Wallace in England?

Wallace, mascot of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, taken as the regiment left Victoria for Debert, Nova Scotia. He was named after Pipe-Major Alex Wallace of Victoria.

When a Pacific coast infantry battalion left an east coast Canadian port recently for overseas four soldiers smuggled Wallace, big St. Bernard mascot, aboard the ship.

Word came yesterday that Canadian soldiers had reached England, but no mention was made of Wallace, who was well known on the streets of Victoria. Today's dispatches from "Somewhere in England" tell how the new arrivals are settling down in Canadian camps. The men soon were at home and it was not long until lines of laundry were hanging from the verandas of the barracks.

The men first tried the bed-springs, claiming they were bet-

Nazis Foundering

"Not only are they stranded in one place and can not move forward, but they also are forced to throw in new forces to remain at the points they have reached," he said, adding Axis reports that Leningrad was encircled and on the verge of falling were "propaganda which belongs in the realm of fantasy."

Russian Battle Nearing Climax

Canadian and Associated Press

The Battle of Russia is surging toward a climax in the four principal sectors of the main Russo-German front, in the immediate approaches to Leningrad in the north, on the front west of Moscow, on the railways and highways converging on Kiev, and on the siege ring around Odessa.

The Russians said the assault on Leningrad, now threatened on the north by the Finns, and on the south by the Germans, had been checked, but Pravda, Moscow organ of the Communist Party, admitted "the beastly, treacherous enemy is breaking through on the approaches to the city."

Inhabitants of Leningrad turned out to build a deep, continuous defence line to meet their foe, determined, it was said, to turn the approaches into graveyards for the attackers.

Terrific fighting has started on the approaches to Kiev, with the Russians declaring the Germans repulsed by stiff counter-attacks. Somewhere on the indefinite front west of Moscow the Russians claimed their deepest counter-thrust, while the Red fleet, taking advantage of its command of the Black Sea, was attempting to relieve Odessa by landing storm troops.

Severity of the struggle was pictured by German and Russian sources independent of the official communiques.

The German radio, sensing, perhaps, public dissatisfaction with uncommunicative communiques, appealed to the people "to forego a complete and detailed description of military operations."

Tass, indicating Russian control of the air at Leningrad, said the city was exhibiting "a spirit of firm composure," and its industries were operating normally.

Students were reported starting the fall semester at Leningrad's universities, theatres staging new productions, and moviegoers turning out in great numbers to see newsreels of action at the front.

Military dispatches to Moscow on the centre front action said the Russian counter-offensive there was still being pushed aggressively, the Germans resisting fiercely, but yielding locality after locality.

While the German high command was virtually silent on the Russian campaign, DNE, news agency, reported the crushing of an attempted landing from the Black Sea, presumably to relieve beleaguered Odessa.

Britain to Call More Soldiers?

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Herald said today "sweeping new plans for calling up millions of men for military service will be announced soon by the government."

No authority was quoted. "This move is the first indication that vital new decisions on war strategy have recently been taken by the government arising out of developments on the Russian front," the Herald said.

The paper said those principally affected would be men under 40 now in reserved occupations. Britain now has approximately 4,000,000 men under arms.

DAYLIGHT SAVING ENDS OCTOBER 1

Premier T. D. Pattullo announced in Vancouver today British Columbia would return to standard time October 1.

Mr. Pattullo said he had consulted with representatives of shipping and allied industries and they were agreed it would be of no benefit during the winter months.

Mr. Pattullo said re-establishment of daylight saving time next summer would be reconsidered in the spring. Shipbuilders had told him daylight time had been of great help, he said.

Over Continent

A SOUTHEAST ENGLISH COAST TOWN (CP)—Scores of R.A.F. planes were seen this afternoon heading south across the English Channel for what appeared to be a renewal of thunderous and almost continuous raids on German-occupied Europe. The drone of aircraft engines was heard for fully 20 minutes.

United States-built Fortress planes bombed Rotterdam docks in occupied Holland.

Over the British Isles last night, few Nazi planes appeared. A communique said that bombs were dropped at points in northeast England, causing no casualties and only slight damage.

Nazi Shot on Paris Street, Germans Condemn Poles to Death

VICHY (AP)—A German non-commissioned officer was reported here today to have been shot last night on a Paris street.

German authorities took the case out of the hands of French police and began a manhunt for the assailant.

An unidentified man was said to have opened fire on the German, an army sergeant, with a revolver in the busy east station section.

The victim was rushed to La Ribouliere Hospital where his wound was considered not serious.

The bullet hit him in a fleshy part under the left shoulder. The sergeant, accompanied by his German fiancée, was nearing his quarters at the Terminus Hotel in the Rue de Strassbourg when he was hit.

This morning the Vichy government issued an order forbidding establishment of any publication without preliminary approval and suspended two newspapers for their anti-collaboration attitude. To save paper, all Sunday newspapers were suspended. The Daily Jour-Echo de Paris was suspended for 10 days, and the weekly Temps Nouveaux was suspended indefinitely, charged with being De Gaulist.

DEATH SENTENCE

BERLIN (AP)—Eighteen former members of the Polish police at Poznan were sentenced to death by a special court today on charges of murdering German nationals. The court heard evidence bearing on the alleged deaths of 672 Germans said to have been abducted from their homes in Poland and slain as the German army moved across the Polish border in the fall of 1939. A captain and sergeant of police among those condemned to death were convicted of 133 killings.

BULGARIANS JAILED

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—Penalties ranging from 10 years in prison to death for distribution of literature, chalk writing, slogans and rumors calculated to weaken the nation's morale were included today in wartime defence legislation introduced in Parliament. Death sentences were asked for Bulgarian speakers over enemy radio stations. (See page 3 for further sabotage stories.)

'Canada Is Linchpin'—Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill today described Canada as "the linchpin of the English-speaking world."

He told a Lord Mayor's luncheon in honor of Prime Minister Mackenzie King that "Canada, with those relations of friendly, affectionate, intimacy with the United States on the one hand and with the unswerving fidelity to the British Commonwealth and the Motherland on the other, is the link which joins together these great branches of the human family."

The Canadian Prime Minister said "we are witnessing the birth of still wider arrangements for joint defence among the British Empire and the United States." He suggested an offer to Britain by President Roosevelt of the guarantee he gave Canada three years ago would serve to "shorten this perilous conflict."

By inference Mr. King said it could now be applied to Britain, which has become the bridgehead of the western hemisphere.

Mr. Roosevelt's pledge was "the United States will not stand idly by if the domination of Canadian soil were threatened by any other empire."

Mr. King said "a similar declaration on the part of the United States as respects Nazi Germany would, I believe, serve to shorten this conflict. Such a declaration would be full of meaning for the German people. At the same time it would constitute a realistic recognition that Britain is the one obstacle in the way of a Nazi attack upon the New World. Unless the whole resources, the total energy of the free world is thrown into the struggle, the war may drag on for years, carrying in its train famine, pestilence and horrors still undreamed of."

The two Prime Ministers spoke in the bomb-damaged Egyptian room of the historic Mansion House in "the city." Mr. Churchill, whom Mr. King described as the "champion of the hosts of freedom," sat at the left of the Lord Mayor, Sir George Wilkinson, in gold robes, while Mr. King sat at his right, next the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Mr. Churchill wore a dark suit with a polka-dot bow tie. Mr. King wore a dark coat and striped trousers.

PICTURES TAKEN

For several minutes, after the other guests had gone into the banquet hall, the two Prime Ministers remained in the gilded corridor while cameramen exploded scores of flashbulbs. Then side by side they fell in behind the Lord Mayor in his official entourage, the leader of which proclaimed in stentorian tones "make way for the Lord Mayor."

The lunch consisted of smoked salmon, grouse, fried potatoes, string beans and fresh peaches. There was no soup.

The head table guests included the Dean of St. Paul's, Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian corps commander; Canadian High Commissioner Vincent Massey, Sir Dudley Pound, First Sea Lord; A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty; L. S. Amery, Secretary for India; the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada; Viscount Cranborne, Dominions Secretary; Lord Simon, the Lord Chancellor; Clement Attlee, Lord Privy Seal; Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary; Lord Moyne, Colonial Secretary; David Margesson, War Secretary; Sir Archibald Sinclair, Air Secretary; Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England; Sir Charles Portal, chief of the air staff; Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C.; Victor Odlum and P. J. Montague. (See pages 2 and 5 for Churchill and King texts)

Axis Ships Fire Each Other

LONDON (CP)—A British cruiser has rammed and sunk an Italian U-boat in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today.

(A British communique issued in Cairo said the air arm of the Mediterranean fleet successfully attacked an Axis convoy of five merchantmen escorted by seven destroyers off the Sardinian coast Tuesday night.

(One large ship hit amidships by a torpedo blew up, a column of smoke rising 9,000 feet in the air, the statement said. Another large ship was hit by a torpedo and two smaller vessels damaged.

"The attack achieved complete surprise and caused much disorder in the convoy," the communique said. "The destroyers apparently fired on their own ships, some of which narrowly avoided colliding with each other."

(The attack occurred east of Cape Spartivento, at the southern tip of Sardinia.)

Strike Still On

VANCOUVER (CP)—A conference today between striking employees of the Pacific Boat Manufacturing Company and F. E. Harrison, western representative of the federal Department of Labor, "failed to change the situation."

Churchill Says

Canadian Troops Perform Important Military Duty

LONDON (CP)—Text of Prime Minister Churchill's speech today at a Lord Mayor's luncheon in honor of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, follows:

I have known him (Mr. Mackenzie King) for a great many years. I remember him as an under-secretary for the colonies and negotiating with him details of some Canadian legislation about which there was some hitch in the days when he was here at the side of that great Canadian statesman, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that is now, I think, 35 or 36 years ago. Ever since then I have enjoyed the honor and pleasure of his friendship and have followed with close attention the long and consistent political message which he has delivered to his country, to the Empire and to the time in which we live.

Today you have listened to a memorable and momentous declaration made here amid our ruins of London, but it resounds throughout the Empire and is carried to all parts of the world by the marvelous mechanism of modern life and modern war.

You have listened to a speech which, I think all those who have heard it will feel, explains the long-continued authority which Mr. Mackenzie King has wielded when, during more than 15 years, he has been Prime Minister of Canada.

Band Together To Save Heritage

He has spoken of great issues of war, of the duty which lies ahead of all free men in all parts of the world to band together lest their heritage be wasted.

Japanese Worried

Hurl Charges, Prepare for Raids

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese were told by one government-supported publication today that Britain and United States were pushing rapidly toward a goal of world domination. Another publication gave them a comprehensive set of air raid rules.

The foreign office-backed Diplomatic Review contended British-American intention to dominate the world became clear after the Atlantic meeting of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

"The intention of the British and Americans is to burn up and exhaust Japan's natural resources and to threaten Japan by both economic and military pressure," the Review's editorial said. "The United States and Great Britain are strengthening aid to the Soviet, are putting pressure on Thailand and are urging the Netherlands East Indies and Australia to tighten the encirclement of Japan."

Attention to the use of Vladivostok as an entry port for material aid to Russia continued to be emphasized.

The newspaper Yomiuri said

1,750,000 GERMANS LOST, SAY BRITISH

LONDON (CP)—An authoritative British source said today German losses in the war with Russia thus far are believed to total about 1,750,000 and that Russian losses have been "from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000" in the bloodiest fighting in history.

This source, in the highest quarters, said:

"None can overpraise the Russians' conduct of the war. They are magnificent and proved the sincerity of their scorched earth promises by blowing up the Lenin (Dnieper River) Dam."

Finnish Soldiers Congratulated

HELSINKI (AP)—The Finnish high command reported today recapture of the entire 60-mile strip of territory on the Karelian Isthmus which Finland lost to Russia in their 1939-40 war.

"The old frontier was reached everywhere," a communiqué said.

Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, leading Finland's armed forces into battle against Russia for the third time in less than 25 years, issued an order of the day congratulating his troops.

At the same time he said: "Endurance is still demanded of us. The time has not yet come to exchange the rifle for the sword." (In modern armies the sword is a dress weapon carried only in times of peace.)

Foster's August Sale of Furs has been extended for a few days. Buy your coat now while low prices prevail!

He has spoken of the immense burden we have to bear, of our unflinching resolve to persevere, to carry forward our standard in common and he also has struck that note, never absent from our minds, that no lasting or perfect solution of difficulties with which we are now confronted—with which the whole world is confronted—no diversion of that sad fate by which the whole world is menaced, can be achieved without a full co-operation in every field of all nations which as yet lie outside the range of the conqueror's power.

In Mr. Mackenzie King we have a Canadian statesman who has always preserved the most intimate relations with the great republic of the United States and whose name and voice are honored there as they are on this side of the Atlantic.

I had an opportunity of meeting the President of the United States a few weeks ago and I know from him of the great esteem in which Mr. Mackenzie King is held and how much he has contributed to joining together in close, sympathetic action, the Republic of the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

Struggle Is Dire, Stand Together

I am grateful to Mr. Mackenzie King today for having put in terms perhaps more pointed than I, as a British minister, would, that overpowering sense we have with him that the struggle is dire and that all free men of the world must stand together in one line if humanity is to be spared a deepening, darkening and widening tragedy which can lead only, as Mr. Mackenzie King has said, to something in the nature of immediate world chaos.

I hope, Mr. Mackenzie King, during your all too brief visit here, the visit that in a few weeks must draw to a close, you have found yourself able to see with your own eyes what we have gone through and also to feel that unconquerable uplift of energy and of resolve which will carry this old island through the storm and carry with it also much that is precious to mankind.

You have taken your place at our councils, you have discussed and examined with our professional experts questions of strategy and war which are pending. You have seen your own gallant Canadian corps and other troops who are here that have not yet had a chance of coming to close quarters with the enemy—it isn't their fault and it isn't our fault but there they stand, there they have stood through the whole of the critical period of the last 15 months at the very point where they would be first to be hurled into a counter-stroke against the invader.

No Greater Service, Important Duty

No greater service can be rendered to this country, no more important military duty can be performed by any troops in all the Allies, it seems to me, although they may have felt envious that Australian, New Zealand and South African troops have been in action.

The part they have played in bringing about the final result is second to none.

You have a great knowledge of the flexible organization, a system ever changing and expanding, yet ever growing into a greater harmony, by which the British Commonwealth of Nations is conducted.

You have also knowledge of your own people and your association with them is so long and so intimate it has enabled you to realize and express in these hours of trouble a more complete unity of Canada than has ever before been achieved.

The war effort of Canada during this war, happily has not so far required the effusion of blood upon a large scale but that effort, immense in ships, aircraft, air training, in finance and in food, constitutes an element in the resistance of the British Empire without which that resistance could not be successfully maintained.

Canada Is Link Which Spans Oceans

Canada is the linchpin of the English-speaking world. Canada, with those relations of friendly, affectionate intimacy with the United States on the one hand and with her unswerving fidelity to the British Commonwealth and Motherland on the other is the link which joins together these great branches of the human family, a link which, spanning the oceans, brings the continents into their true relation and will prevent, in future generations, a division growing between the proud and happy nations of Europe and the great countries which have come into existence in the New World.

MALAHAT CLOSSES SEPTEMBER 15

Malahat Highway will be closed to traffic on the morning of Monday, September 15, so that work can be resumed on a two-mile reconstruction project, Works Minister C. S. Leary announced today.

Closure of the road has been held off until that date so that people traveling down the island to the Victoria exhibition will not be inconvenienced. Contractors have enough work to do off the main right-of-way to keep them busy until then.

The project is one that was suspended in June for the benefit of tourist travel. In the meantime contractors have been working on a new section which will by-pass the present road for a short stretch.

B.C. Salmon Pack Best in 5 Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—More salmon has been canned and packed in British Columbia this year to date than in any year since 1936, figures released today by J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of the Department of Fisheries, showed.

A total of 1,043,903 cases of salmon have been put up this year. This compares with 775,820 cases in 1940, 866,935 in 1939, 895,003 in 1938 and 839,906 in 1937. In 1936 1,228,697 cases were packed.

Kilts for Dresses

LONDON (CP)—London women are buying kilts and converting them into dresses, skirts and coats, says a department store official. He blames clothes rationing. A kilt has from nine to 10 yards of cloth and ranks as a pair of trousers. One can be obtained for eight coupons, but the same material requires four and a half coupons a yard.

Isley Hopes For Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of Finance, said today he hoped agreements would be reached between the Dominion and the provinces "within a reasonable time" by which the Dominion will take over the income and corporation tax fields for the duration of the war.

He added he hoped such agreements would be concluded "before the end of September, but that may not be possible."

On the question of curtailment of installment buying, the minister said there had been no definite proposals by the government, but he would like to see installment buying made more "conservative," and thus effect a curtailment of spending.

Questioned regarding the government's policy on the cost-of-living bonus, Mr. Isley said it was a "preventative of inflation."

"Otherwise," he said, "you might find employees offering high wages—bidding for labor. That would introduce chaos into the wage structure. Hardship and possibly unduly high prices might result."

Answering another question, the minister said the government did not contemplate introduction of compulsory buying of War Savings certificates—"there is enough off the workers' cheques already."

Blitz Hotels Ready

LONDON (CP)—If bombs rain down on London by the thousand this autumn and winter the city's homeless will find comfortably-equipped "blitz hotels" waiting for them.

London County Council has organized what are officially called rest centres for people bombed out of their homes. But those who have had experience of them already use the description "blitz hotels."

First line of these centres numbers 180 and there are some in each of the capital's 28 boroughs. Most are L.C.C. schools adapted to meet their new requirements at a cost of about $562,500. There is a second line, smaller in number, of "feeders" to handle overflows, or replace any first-line centres which get bombed, and a third line of 140 reserve centres.

In London's last two large-scale raids the whole service functioned efficiently, resting, feeding, sleeping and finding new quarters for 35,000 people.

Each centre is equipped to carry on, even if water, gas, electricity and telephone services all break down. It could continue to feed, care for and sleep a minimum of 200 homeless people for a week, giving them three meals daily and plenty of clean drinking water.

COOKERS

One East End centre has electric cookers and gas cookers as a first line, a big two-oven kitchen range as a second line, and an oil range with a battery of four burners as a third line. If electricity, gas, coal and oil failed, field ovens are available.

Day and night teapots and hot water stand ready in reception rooms for any bomb victims who may come for help. The windows of the reception room are filled in with 14-inch brick and anti-blast walls. Ceilings are reinforced to withstand weight of falling debris.

A small hospital ward is kept ready for those suffering from shock, with a nurse always in attendance.

People in the News

HELD FOR TREASON

DR. JOHAN HELO, financial director of the Helsinki municipal government, has been arrested on suspicion of high treason, according to a German radio report.

The broadcast, heard in New York, said Dr. Helo's arrest was announced in the Finnish capital and asserted that "he stepped in the foreground of public discussion by his interviews to Communist papers of Sweden, which the Moscow radio always has exploited for its propaganda against Finland."

BEST SECURITY

WENDELL L. WILLKIE said today "I would rather own a United States bond which is part of a national indebtedness of $150,000,000,000, with Hitler out of the world, than a bond which is part of a $50,000,000,000 debt with Hitler still in the world."

Willkie spoke at the opening of a glass-enclosed booth in New York's Rockefeller Centre Plaza, where bonds and stamps will be on sale throughout September.

TO OPEN AUCTION

THE DUKE OF WINDSOR, expected to visit his ranch near High River this month, was asked in a cable from the Calgary Kinsmen Club to open their big auction sale September 17 in aid of Britain's war victims.

FINEST STATION

PRIME MINISTER PETER FRASER of New Zealand made a two-hour tour of inspection of No. 2 service flying training school at nearby Ottawa's Upplands airport.

He chatted with members of the Royal New Zealand Air Force who arrived at Upplands from Vancouver and said of the school: "It's one of the finest training stations I have seen since coming to Canada."

HELPS BRITAIN

F. W. NICOLLS JR. of Reading, Pa., gave United States aid to Britain a slightly different turn when he opened a collection box which he has maintained in his hotel suite at Banff in aid of the Banff-Jasper Spitfire fund.

When the box was opened, it was found to contain $300. This was matched by another American visitor, WILLIAM H. BEACH of New York, making a total donation to the fund of $600.

BREAD ON WATER

CONSTABLE FRANK COOK, who was transferred from Prince George to northerly Fort St. James some years ago and thus met and grubstaked the prospectors who discovered the Pinchi Lake mercury mines, one of the biggest quicksilver producers in the world, has decided to resign from the provincial police and go into the mining business himself. His resignation is effective September 30.

Cook was so popular that Prince George citizens exerted all possible influence to oppose his transfer to Fort St. James. Had they succeeded, he would never have met the prospectors he grubstaked to win a share in the rich mines.

RELEASE FREE FRENCHMAN

RODERICK EGAL, leader of Shanghai Free French, arrived at this British naval base today from Saigon, French Indo-China, strong British pressure having obtained his release after five months' imprisonment.

Naval men of the Vichy regime, Britons charged, kidnapped Egale from his Shanghai home in April and sent him to Indo-China, France's far eastern colony. A court-martial dropped charges of "inciting to desertion," but sentenced him to six months in prison for his Free French activities.

Cornelia van Ireland, 22, plunged more than 200 feet into San Francisco Bay from the Golden Gate Bridge, but lived to tell her story to rescuers. It was the first time anyone had escaped in the long drop from the bridge into the water. The chance passing of a United States destroyer under the bridge at the time resulted in an almost immediate rescue.

BIDDLE APPROVED

FRANCIS BIDDLE, former U.S. solicitor-general, was unanimously approved by the Senate judiciary committee as attorney-general of the United States. The committee earlier had heard an accusation that Biddle, as acting attorney-general, permitted Justice Department agents to use wire-tapping in an effort to learn the activities of Harry Bridges, west coast C.I.O. leader.

TAYLOR TO ROME

MYRON TAYLOR, President Roosevelt's special representative to the Vatican, is leaving New York for Rome by trans-Atlantic clipper to resume his duties. Taylor has recovered from an illness which interrupted his mission.

CAPONE SUE

The government sued AL. CAPONE and 14 other men in Chicago for $119,37 in taxes on beer the Capone syndicate brewed and lost to federal agents during the prohibition era. The civil action demanded payment of that amount, plus interest, penalties and court costs, to meet unpaid levies on 19,894 barrels of the bottled product manufactured and sold between January 6, 1921, and May 1, 1932.

GUTT LOSES SON

The BBC reported in London the son of Camille Gutt, Belgian Finance Minister, has been killed on active service.

ELEANOR DIDN'T KNOW

Wives who complain that their husbands "just don't tell them anything" can sympathize with MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT. She disclosed to her press conference she did not know in advance that President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill were meeting at sea.

'GROWING WEAKER'

GEN. SIR JOHN DILL, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, said in a war anniversary message to imperial troops that the enemy is "growing weaker, although there are hard times ahead for all of us," the BBC reported.

Congressman Says

'Japan Afraid OF U.S. Fleet'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Minnesota congressman, just returned from six weeks of sea duty as a marine corps reserve air officer, said Japan was "deathly afraid" of the United States fleet when it was in the Pacific.

The legislator-colonel, representative Melvin Maas, said in an interview some of the fleet had been withdrawn to the Atlantic, but he expressed the opinion nevertheless American forces in the Pacific remain strong enough to fend off any attack and at the same time keep open supply routes for vital shipments of rubber and tin.

Further, he said, he believed the western hemisphere "is in no danger from Japanese aggression."

POWERFUL

"The Hawaiian Islands are more powerful than Gibraltar ever was because their defenses are geared to modern warfare," he said. "No navy could get to Panama without passing Hawaii and no navy could get past Hawaii."

"Japan is deathly afraid of the American fleet when it is intact. It is significant that they did not move into Indo-China until the fleet in the Pacific had been split and part of it had been transferred to the Atlantic."

"In spite of all the secrecy of the navy, the first information that the American public had that the fleet had been split was a news broadcast from Tokyo giving the dates the ships went through the canal and their names."

Maas, ranking Republican house naval affairs committee member, began active training in July when he piloted a four-engine patrol bomber from San Diego to Honolulu in what he said was record time of 14 hours 25 minutes. For the next six weeks

Tired of Hollywood

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Sterling Hayden, 25-year-old Gloucester skipper who made good in Hollywood, said he is through with moving pictures because he wants to live his own life.

He drove up to Capt. Ben Pine's wharf in a surprise visit, threw his California automobile registration plates into Gloucester harbor and replaced them with Massachusetts numbers.

Hayden, six-foot four-inch blond who has appeared in two pictures with Madeleine Carroll, told a reporter his plans for the future are uncertain and he had abandoned the films simply because he did not wish to be tied to Hollywood.

Veteran of a varied career at sea despite his youth, he sailed as topman and navigator on Pine's schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud in the last international fishermen's races against Capt. Angus Walter's Canadian champion Bluenose.

he flew 19,000 miles, once making a seven-day inspection trip of "all our island bases," which he declined to enumerate.

Cobina's Mind Not Made Up

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Blonde Cobina Wright, Jr., the New York deb turned movie actress, flew into town from Reno yesterday and confessed she hadn't made up her mind about Corporal Palmer Beaudette.

Beaudette, in Seattle, announced he and the actress would be married in New York November 14.

This brought the reply from Mrs. Cobina Wright, Sr., that "she's too interested in her career to marry him or anyone now."

Cobina, Jr., Mrs. Wright added, was too ill to come to the telephone.

Cobina, Jr., was radiant as she stepped from the plane, clad in cowboy boots and blue jeans and blouse.

Of Beaudette, grandson of O. J. Beaudette, wealthy Detroit former auto manufacturer, she said: "He's swell, he's tall, good looking and has nice eyes."

"It's true he asked me to marry him," she went on, "and I am terribly fond of him. But I've known him only four months and have actually seen very little of him in that time, since his leaves from the army have been infrequent.

"I'm right at the crossroads of my career and I don't expect to get married immediately in any case."

Cobina, Sr., who accompanied the actress, added:

"What she wants to do is her own business, but when there's an announcement it will come from me."

Cobina was called here by 20th Century-Fox studio to test for a starring part in "Sudden Fury," opposite Tyrone Power, which starts Thursday. The role was assigned to Maureen O'Hara, but she is ill in a Reno hospital with appendicitis.

It's not easy in Victoria always to remember that "There's a War On." It is so easy to become impatient when service is not all it should be, when promises made in the best of faith are sometimes impossible of fulfillment. Canada 'The Linchpin'

CANADA UNDERWENT A NEW CHRISTENING ceremony today at a luncheon tendered by the Lord Mayor of London to Mr. Mackenzie King. Mr. Churchill named this Dominion "the linchpin of the English-speaking world." It was a typical Churchillian turn of phrase to be added to dozens of others that will be recalled over and over again long after the present head of the government in the Empire's metropolis has completed his labors for a world whose people one day will look upon the horrors of these times as a nightmarish dream—but always on Winston Churchill's great contribution to the battle for survival with profound gratitude and thankfulness. For more than 30 years, of course, the Canadian and British Prime Ministers have been warm friends, often content to disagree with one another on matters concerning their political individualism; but always thinking and acting as one mind and will in circumstances which have challenged the rights and privileges of free peoples. Specifically, however, Mr. Churchill revealed more of what he had learned from Mr. Roosevelt "upon the clean windy sea" about Canada's relationships with the United States, for he observed:

"Canada, with those relations of friendly, affectionate, intimacy with the United States on the one hand, and with her unswerving fidelity to the British Commonwealth and the Motherland on the other, is the link which joins together these great branches of the human family... and no diversion of the sad fate menacing the world can be achieved without the full co-operation in every field of all nations which as yet lie outside the range of the conqueror's power."

The full meaning and wide significance of the Ogdensburg Pact, which produced the plans for mutual defence by Canada and the United States—the arrangement that paved the way to the "destroyers-for-bases" transaction—and the equally important Hyde Park agreement, which established the working principle of economic collaboration between this country and the neighboring Republic, are well understood by the British government. Mr. Churchill's reference to the "friendly, affectionate, intimacy" which exists between the two countries of North America, moreover, will assist the British people themselves to assess anew the assistance which the United States is affording to the Empire's cause—aid an encouragement not measured only by numbers of airplanes, tanks, ships and guns, but by those intangible factors that, in the last analysis, will be of incalculable value to the future of the world.

Mr. Hanson for London

NEARLY TWO MONTHS AGO IN THESE columns we suggested there was nothing in the world to prevent Mr. Hanson from following the example set by Mr. Willkie—by going to Britain to find out for himself, on the spot, what President Roosevelt's opponent in last November's presidential election discovered for himself. The only difference in the parallel we endeavored to draw was that Dr. Manion, not Mr. Hanson, led the Conservative Party to defeat in the contest of March last year; but we pursued the theme by reminding the House leader of the opposition at Ottawa that the role he enjoys ranks him relatively higher in his country's councils than that occupied by Mr. Willkie. The fact that our neighbor is not yet an active belligerent in the full meaning of the term has nothing whatever to do with the case.

Now that Mr. Hanson has decided to make the trip to Britain—and we commend him for his decision—he will have just that much advantage over those of his party whose contribution to the nation's war effort has differed strikingly from the nature of the assistance Mr. Willkie, for example, has given Mr. Roosevelt almost from the morrow of his defeat at the polls last November. The head of Canada's parliamentary opposition, it will be recalled, had expressed his "surprise" and "amazement" at Mr. King's inability to go to London, the Prime Minister having said on numerous occasions that his place was in Canada. But the government chief was in possession of information with respect to the proposal which it evidently was thought desirable not to make public two months ago. And there the matter remained. When the Atlantic meeting between Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt went the Axis partners one better than all their Brenner Pass confabs, however, Mr. Hanson and the Canadian public learned the real reason why Mr. King permitted his critics to remain "surprised" and "amazed" for the time being. The head of the government is now over there; perhaps the two will meet in the Empire's metropolises.

Raving Again

ROME'S RADIO AND THE ITALIAN regimented press have turned out some of the most extraordinary propagandist bilge since Mussolini stabbed France in the back on June 10 last year. But it has remained for the ersatz Caesar's Popolo d'Italia to put the cap on everything that has gone before. Discussing Axis collaboration and the so-called consolidation of Europe in general, the newspaper referred to published this priceless gem yesterday:

"On the battlefield, Mussolini and Hitler have given Europe its new flag in which are blended the colors of all nations of the continent, the glories and rights of all peoples of the continent. . . . Now this flag is unfurled beside those of the Axis at the head of the armies and fleets of Europe in war."

Most people with ordinary intelligence have suspected for a long time that Mussolini's mental processes were hampered by total incapacity to understand what has been taking place before his very eyes; but they gave him credit for some ability to read the portents which developments in other parts of the world are emphasizing day by day. His journalistic mouthpiece's latest effusion, however, would seem to relegate him to the category of hopeless imbeciles. Somebody may be unkind enough to show to him the simple statement General Sir Archibald Wavell issued from Simla while Popolo d'Italia's editor was concocting his metaphorical symposium—assuming, of course, Il Duce still remembers the name of the man who kept an important appointment with Marshal Rodolfo Graziani a few months ago. Said the commander-in-chief in India:

"There are many signs that the enemy is growing weaker, and that from arrogant confidence he has passed into a restless anxiety which will turn to despair as he sees his ruin approach. . . . There is a sign by which you may judge an enemy's growing fear—the growing recklessness of his life."

Ordered minds in all parts of the world will be able to contrast the implications of the two statements we have quoted. Norwegians, Danes, Luxemburgers, Belgians, Hollanders, Poles, and the people who constitute the true France will have their own ideas of what it is like to exist under the colors which represent "the glories and rights of all peoples." But these are the people who will help to stitch the pattern of the flag that will one day replace the emblems of the swastika and the fasces.

How Mr. Willkie Feels

IF HON. J. L. ILSLEY, CANADA'S MINISTER OF FINANCE, had not an abundance of arguments to support his plea for greater purchases of War Savings Certificates when he comes to Victoria on Saturday—which of course he has—he could borrow a few of the remarks to which Mr. Wendell L. Willkie gave expression in New York yesterday. The defeated Republican candidate in last November's presidential election had this to say as he spoke in the glass-enclosed booth in the Rockefeller Centre Plaza where United States defence bonds and stamps will be on sale for the next month:

"I would rather own a United States bond which is part of a national indebtedness of $150,000,000,000 with Hitler out of the world, than a bond which is part of a $50,000,000,000 debt with Hitler still in the world. . . . We have talked so much of the necessity of united action and sacrifice and, as Americans, isolationists and nationalists, interventionists and internationalists, we are pledged to the building of a strong defence. . . . This is the first sacrifice, the first offering, we have been asked to make, and what an insignificant sacrifice it is to buy the best security that can be bought to crush totalitarianism."

Every argument Mr. Willkie used can be applied in its main essentials to Canada and her job of finding the money with which to fight Hitler and his gang. The urgency in our case, however, is impressed on our minds by the fact that we, as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, are in a "shooting war"—to use our neighbor's definition of active belligerency—and have been in it for the last two years. The Dominion's share of the task, moreover, must grow in material and physical aid until victory is achieved.

Notes

Who remembers when soldiers walked, and were so long in getting past Przemyśl that we had to learn to pronounce it.

An inventory of reserve supplies lists 37,000 tons of pepper stored in New York warehouses. And that's not to be sneezed at.

Because of the international convention against giving prisoners propaganda against their own government, Nazi and Italian war prisoners in England are getting material like Alfred Rosenberg's Fascist theories to read. Probably the very fact that Britain lives up to its word is stronger pro-democratic propaganda than anything that could be printed on paper, but it still takes a tremendous faith in mankind. What if the Italian and German captives miss the point of the demonstration?

AND THEY CALL IT COAST DEFENCE

Newspaper readers have been assured in a Canadian Press item from Halifax that "alert defenders of this fortress city. . . have been found ready for the task." In the early morning darkness last Monday two unidentified aircraft appeared over the city. No Canadian aircraft were supposed to be operating in the vicinity of Halifax at that hour. They could have been enemy bombers. Defence mechanism sprang into instant action as follows:

"Searchlights stabbed through the skies; anti-aircraft guns went to action stations at their weapons, and rockets were fired. Some vital establishments were blacked out."

This picture of Canadian defence on the alert is intended to be reassuring, but it is possible that Halifax people are asking themselves what would have been the results of an actual raid by enemy aircraft. Searchlights are spectacular; Halifax is well supplied with searchlights, but their less evidence of Halifax being well armed with guns to stop aircraft. At some British ports, even with protected with a balloon barrage and ringed with a curtain of high-angle artillery fire, enemy raiders have broken through. One German bomber could have done terrible damage to Halifax last Monday morning.

Bruce Hutchison

WHAT'S WRONG?

MR. RENGE ATLEE, who seems to be a very sensible man, writes a piece in MacLean's Magazine and tries to find out what is wrong with Canada. Mr. Atlee travels a good deal down in the maritimes and he finds everywhere that people are questioning in their minds the future of this country. They lack confidence in the future, he says. They wonder what is going to happen when the munitions industries close down. Inarticulately they wonder whether, having beaten Hitler and won the war, we are going to lose the next peace.

Mr. Atlee seems to think this is a serious symptom. On the contrary, it is the most hopeful news we could have about the people of Canada. If they are beginning to worry, beginning to think about the future of their country, something worthwhile may be done about it. If, as it seems to me in these parts, people are lulled into a false sense of security by the encompassing and entirely phoney war boom, then, indeed, we are heading for a smash.

The trouble, as Mr. Atlee seems to see it, is in Ottawa. We lack adequate leadership since the last war. Neither had Britain. The United States only began to get leadership with the coming of Roosevelt eight years ago and even then most of the New Deal was a failure. But we got the kind of leadership we wanted in Canada. It perfectly reflected our current mood. Any leader who had tried to lead instead of following would have been thrown out. The trouble was with the Canadian people.

What, then, was wrong with the Canadian people? If it was a fault of basic and congenital character, we might as well give up trying. I think it was something else. I think it was lack of information and understanding.

WE DON'T KNOW

THE Canadian people know less about their country than the people of any sizeable nation. Even the ignorant Chinese know their country better, if not by text books, by an instinct for its land and its ways. The Canadian people have little information about their country and they have not been here long enough to have any deep instinct about it. They have, instead, a series of dreams, slogans and clichés.

Among these is the notion that Canada is boundlessly rich, can support as many people as the United States and is, living a poor life because of a few politicians and financial pirates. Another notion—especially prevalent in these parts and an essential part of every political party's bag of tricks—is that each section of the country is mistreated and would be better off as a part of the United States (which suffered from the depression much worse than we did). Another illusion is that somehow, without our effort or thought, prosperity is bound to return here because it is the normal state of the nation (when actually, since Confederation, we have had depression after depression).

But worse than these false notions is the total lack of understanding among Canadians of the anatomy of their country, the way it lives and makes its living. That is why crazy men can stand on any stump in the country and talk nonsense about our economic problems and especially about our trade without the least question, and can usually get elected to Parliament.

ALL OVER AGAIN

THUS we came to the verge of this war, as Mr. Atlee says, with none of our basic problems solved. We return after the peace not to a well-managed country but to a country which was badly managed before the war and will be worse off afterwards. We eliminate Hitler, because we must, but we only win by that victory the right to start all over again.

Therein lies the supreme danger to the Canadian state. For when the war is over we shall have on all sides, springing up like evil toadstools, false prophets who will guarantee prosperity in three easy lessons, probably with Social Credit dividends and a silver spoon with each package. Only a well-informed public will be able to choose the false prophets from the sane ones. And today we have a very badly informed public. If it does not inform itself before the end of the war, we shall probably enthroned in Ottawa another Abernethy, a Hepburn or a Dr. Telford, or something much worse.

WHOSE FAULT?

WHY THE PUBLIC is ill-informed is too long a story to be explored here. Partly it is the fault of our educational system. Partly it is the fault of the newspapers. But mostly it is the fault of leaders who do not tell us lies but do not tell us the truth because they know that would defeat them at the polls. They have never trusted the people—with good reason—and I doubt that they trust the people yet. If they had, they would have been far tougher about the management of this war.

In that sense, leadership is at fault—in the sense that it does not fully inform nor trust the people. But up to now the people have not been ready for information. They wanted to believe in fairy tales and they wanted an easy life. They got both for a while. Until they make up their minds that we face a new and tougher kind of world—no more fairies, no more bedtime stories, no more easy life—we shall not be any more ready for peace than we were ready for war.

Parallel Thoughts

Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls.—Matthew 11:29.

To will what God doth will, that is the only science that gives us any rest.—Malherbe.

THAT ARMY SOAP

The army sergeant who started the soap works here in Victoria to use the fats formerly thrown away, and who now saves the treasury of Canada about $1,000 per month, started other things.

One thing he started was a proposal by the high-ups at Ottawa that all military districts do what the Pacific command has done and install similar soap works. It now costs about $1 per year to supply one soldier with soap. With more than a third of a million men in uniform the net possible saving represents a considerable item. But other things started also. Joseph Harris, M.P., has told a parliamentary committee that "this use of the fats to make soap represents 'false economy.'" Joe suggests that the fats should be shipped from all over Canada so that the glycerine might be extracted from them.

By a strange coincidence most of the soap companies which get most of the army soap contracts are located in the constituency represented by Mr. Harris. The glycerine reduction works are also located there. Contracts which run to some hundreds of thousands of dollars per year are not to be sneezed at, even in these times when most war contractors trim in millions.

But there seems to be something wrong with Mr. Harris' figures.

THAT FALSE ECONOMY

If all the fat which was formerly wasted in army camps was shipped to Toronto for glycerine reduction, the carrying charges, two ways, on the necessary metal containers would be greater than the total value of the glycerine finally obtained. Of course, the "regular" soap makers would get their "regular" contracts at the "regular" rate of profit.

The idea that this war is a heaven-sent gift to private business enterprises with anything to sell is one that dies hard. The unconscious assumption in many of the arguments used about war supply is that the "government" is really under some obligation to business concerns so to conduct its war supply operations as not to upset the established order.

A SURPRISED TOURIST

From National Revenue Review
When clearing customs at the International boundary bridge at St. Stephen, N.B., recently, after a motor trip through New Brunswick, a tourist from Quincy, Mass., was surprised to find himself the object of unusual official attention. He was addressed by name by the Canadian customs officer and, according to his own statement, immediately began wondering just what traffic, immigration or customs law he had unwittingly broken.

However, the officer merely asked him, "Have you all the money you should have?" The tourist replied that he had and, as a matter of routine, clapped his hand over his wallet pocket. But the pocket was empty.

The officer then explained to the bewildered tourist that that morning, more than 100 miles away at Riverside, N.B., a tourist cabin proprietor found a bulging wallet containing $700 in bills under the pillow in the tourist's room, where he evidently had put it the night before for safe keeping. The proprietor had notified a constable of the Royal Canadian including the customary rate of profit.

STATE CAPITALISM

Russia, the Marxians tell us, is not really a Communist state, or even truly socialist, but actually state capitalist. One often hears people talking these days about what will happen in Britain, the U.S., or Canada when the war is over. Some even hint that these western capitalisms will even borrow a page or two from the Soviet's book.

The grim irony of it all is that our whole western part of the world is plunging into state capitalism right now at a rate which might have given Karl Marx a headache had he been able to foresee that it would be the capitalists, and not the socialists, who would be hollering their heads off for a speeding up of the process.

For while the Joe Harrises of the world are worried about a relatively one-horse soap works, which takes away a fleabite's worth of the former profit enjoyed by private business, the state is literally pouring new capital investment into hundreds of private businesses. The state is becoming the major shareholder in more and more business enterprises every day.

By May 31, 1941, the Canadian and British governments had invested in Canadian war industries the huge sum of $511,000,000. Of this total Canada alone had advanced 35 per cent. The British government alone had invested 26 per cent, while the two governments had jointly provided the remainder—39 per cent.

Anybody is entitled to a guess as to what will happen when another peace breaks out. But one thing absolutely certain is that the water will not run backwards up the hill.

One might paraphrase Winston Churchill's famous remark about the inevitable intermixture of the British Commonwealth and the United States:

The public treasury and private business are more and more going to be mixed up together whether anybody likes it or not. State capitalism is here already, just as it is in Russia. The only difference is one of degree and purpose.

HITLER'S FINE WORK

From Liverpool Daily Post

Some pathetic stories were told at a Merseyside inquiry to establish the identity of nine air raid victims, at which the coroner in each case found the death to be due to war operations. The identity of each was found to be established.

In the case of a 72-year-old fire-watcher, his son said that he identified him by a pair of spectacles, a penknife, a pair of scissors, and a bunch of keys which were found in the building. The premises had collapsed, burying the man beneath it.

A 69-year-old dock laborer left his home on the night of the raid to see some friends, telling his daughter he would stay with them until due to begin work at midnight. His daughter was later told the house had been demolished by a bomb.

A 35-year-old woman who had been sheltering under the stairs of her home with four other members of her family was identified by her handbag, which was found in the ruins; and the body of a 64-year-old stevedore was identified by a trades union tally found in the pocket. When a husband and his 25-year-old wife and their baby went to a communal shelter, which was demolished by a bomb, the husband was killed and the wife, who was the subject of the inquiry, also lost her life, but the baby was saved.

In another case, a woman's body had been identified in a mortuary by a clergyman, but the mortuary itself was bombed and the bodies burnt, the following night.

Premier King Says

'Fliers From Canada to Fill British, German Skies'

LONDON (CP)—The text of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's address at the Lord Mayor's luncheon today follows:

I thank you, Lord Mayor and members of the Corporation of the City of London, for affording me the occasion to speak on behalf of the people of Canada to the people of Britain.

I also thank you, Lord Mayor, for the honor you have done me in proposing my health, and particularly for the sentiments you have so graciously expressed.

The people of Canada will be quick to recognize that the honor which is being done me today is meant as an honor to all Canada. This the Canadian people will deeply appreciate. This they will never forget.

It is truly a high privilege to speak in this ancient city which has suffered so grievous a martyrdom for the cause of freedom. What London has already endured with undaunted courage has added to her story a chapter so illustrious that her historic glories pale by comparison. These days are reviving the memories of the assertion and the preservation of the freedom of your citizens who still defend with all their ancestral strength the rights of the plain, ordinary, men and women not in London only, but in a world resisting as of old, with indomitable and unbroken will, the onset of tyranny.

Throughout the past two years the people of Britain in the midst of horror and suffering have given an example of human endurance unparalleled, I believe, in the annals of fortitude. Of London it will be written and spoken in proud memory that when the skies rained destruction upon her she stood amidst the ruins of her ancient monuments unbowed, unwept, unsparring, but erect, resolute, unafraid. The city today has held a high honor over all the cities of the earth. The very name of London reverberates around the world like some waves of a great bell, calling together all who love and cherish freedom. I am here today to tell the brave men and women of Britain that the call is being answered and will continue to be answered in ever-larger measure from across the sea.

New World Supplies Means of Victory

In this world struggle to thwart aggression and end oppression, Canada is at Britain's side. The United States of America is lending powerful support. Side by side, we, of the new world stand to your defence, which we believe to be our own defence. Each at the other's side, each in his own way, but both in unflinching and ever-increasing measure, continue to supply the material, the vital means of ultimate, certain, victory.

I thank you, Mr. Prime Minister (Churchill) for honoring this occasion with your presence. To me it is indeed a source of pride that behind our relationship in affairs of state at this time of war there lies an unbroken friendship extending over more than one-third of a century, a friendship kept warm by personal visits of one or the other to Britain or Canada. We have not at all times seen eye to eye. But in viewing the course which it has seemed wisest to take, we have seldom had difficulty in reconciling our views and never a reason to question their sincerity.

Today I stand at your side, one with you in thought, purpose and determination, never more honored than that long years in public service should have afforded me an opportunity so to represent before the world the proud position of Canada at the side of Britain.

Churchill Champion Of Hosts of Freedom

Perhaps you will permit me to express in the presence of your fellow countrymen something of the feeling Canadians one and all cherish towards yourself.

In the hour of Britain's greatest need we have seen you personify the unbending determination, dogged courage and unyielding perseverance of the British people. We have seen you do more than this. By the power of your eloquence, the energy of your conduct, the genius of your leadership, you have galvanized a great people into heroic action, rarely equalled, never excelled, in the history of warfare.

You have consistently upheld the right of men and nations freely to order their own affairs, their own way, within the framework of international friendship and good will.

Today, Nazi Germany, led by one man possessed by the power of evil and corrupted by the evil of power, seeks to crush all free peoples. Mankind will be grateful that in Britain a free man who believes in the ultimate power of free men, has become the champion of the hosts of freedom.

It is high destiny which in the realms of either civil or international strife links the name of any public man with the saving of his country.

History to Record Position of Leader

Of you, Mr. Churchill, history will record that by the example of your leadership you helped save the freedom of the world.

Canada is proud of her position in the sisterhood of the British Commonwealth. But that position and association, had other resources been lacking, would not have sufficed to bring Canada into a European war. Ours was not an automatic response to some mechanical organization of Empire. Canada's entry into the war was a deliberate decision of free people by their own representatives in a free Parliament.

Canada is a nation of the new world. As a nation of the new world we placed ourselves freely at Britain's side because Britain's cause was the cause of freedom, not in this island alone, not in the British Empire alone, not in the old world alone, but everywhere in the world. Lincoln in his day saw that the United States could not survive half-slave, half-free. Likewise the Canadian people clearly have seen that the world today cannot long continue half-slave, half-free.

Ere Poland was invaded we had come to see as you had come to see that Nazi Germany had been maddened by the poison of the evil doctrine of race and force, that the lust and passion of her rulers could be satisfied only by blood and soil and the treasure of her neighbors.

Saw Early Menace Of Hitler Poison

We were well aware that ambition, feeding on itself, would steadily grow. We saw that if Hitler were successful in his immediate aims, the world would soon be threatened by the unlimited ambition of evil men and by the might of the greatest military machine the world has ever known.

When you in Britain were determined to oppose this growing danger, we in Canada were with you from the start. Like you, we saw the folly of waiting passively for our turn to come. We will be with you to the end.

We are fighting to defend democratic and Christian ideals. We believe that everything which free men value and cherish on this side of the grave is in peril in this war. The right of men, rich and poor, to be treated as men, the right of men to make laws by which they will be governed, the right of men to work where they will, at what they will, the right of woman-kind to the serenity and sanctity of the home, the right of children to play in safety under the peaceful heavens, the right of old men and women to tranquility in their sunset, the right to speak the truth in our hearts, the right of worship in our own way the God in Whom we believe.

When war came, Canada did not hesitate. But I am bound to say our resolve and our determination has been strengthened by your magnificent endurance. We have been deeply moved by the example of the King and Queen, sharing the dangers and sorrows of their peoples. We have been stirred by your Prime Minister sounding the battlecry of humanity. But above all we have been inspired by the undaunted courage and the unshaken faith with which millions of ordinary men and women have faced destruction and death. We, in Canada, cannot all share your dangers, but we are proud to share your burdens. We are determined to share them to the utmost of our strength.

Peaceful People Geared for War

You already know something of Canada's war effort. We have transformed one of the least military peoples on earth into a nation organized for modern war. Our war production gains daily momentum. As the conflict has spread, its intensity has grown and so has our resolve to pour forth our utmost effort for your forces as well as ours. Canada today is making ships, aircraft, motor transport, universal carriers, tanks, field guns, machine-guns, anti-aircraft guns, munitions of many kinds, explosives, chemicals, radio devices, electrical equipment and a great many other essentials of modern war.

Today Canada is the granary and storehouse from which we are sending you all the food that ships can be found to carry. Our country has also become an arsenal of democracy and a shipyard of freedom of the seas.

By British standards our navy is small. But its strength has increased tenfold since the war began. When invasion first threatened this island, Canada was proud to be able to send her destroyers to join the Royal Navy in guarding your shores. Ships and men of Canada's navy are taking their full part in the escort of convoys across the north Atlantic passage.

Air Training Plan Exceeds Expectation

Canada's air force also has part of the convoy duty. But the greatest task of the Royal Canadian Air Force—and Canada's greatest single contribution to the common cause—is our part in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Together with the associated Royal Air Force schools for which we have provided a home in Canada, it represents the greatest concentration of air training in the world.

In the Commonwealth plan, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand are associated with Canada. Its purpose is the achievement of decisive supremacy in the air. The results already attained far exceed the original plans.

Thousands of graduates of the air training plan already are serving in the R.A.F. or in our own Canadian squadrons in Britain. As the output of air crews increases, more Canadian airmen will serve with the R.A.F. More Canadian squadrons will be formed. Before long the skies over Britain—and over Germany, too—will be filled with young airmen from our land.

And here may I pause to repeat what I believe will yet prove to be one of the most remarkable prophecies in all history. The original lines were written in Latin 200 years ago by the author of the "elegy written in a country churchyard."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King inspects a Canadian Guard of Honor, as he attended the Canadian Overseas Sports.

Happily they have been translated into excellent English verse. I give their message to you brave people of Britain as something to which I believe you may look with confidence:

"The times will come when thou shalt lift thine eyes
To watch the long-drawn battle in the skies
While aged peasants too amazed for words
Stare at the flying fleets of wondrous birds.
"England so long the mistress of the sea
"Where winds and waves confess her sovereignty,
"Her ancient triumphs yet on high shall bear
"And reign the sovereign in the conquered air."

Armored Division Will Go Overseas

In the last Great War the national pride of Canada was fired by the exploits of the Canadian corps. When the present war came we set about creating a new army which we were determined would rival the old. Canada's new army, I think I may say, is as well known in many parts of Britain as it is in Canada. Since my arrival I have been proud to hear on all sides that the Canadian Corps under Gen. McNaughton's command is as fine as any military unit in Britain.

In addition to two operational divisions in the corps there are, in this country, many thousands of Canadian troops, including a tank brigade and an infantry division which have recently arrived. Before the year is out we shall send over still another division—this one an armored division.

You all know how eager our Canadian soldiers are for action against the enemy. I cannot make too clear that the policy of the Canadian government is to have our troops serve in those theatres where, viewing the war as a whole, it is believed their services will count most. The Canadian people are proud today that our men are among the defenders of the very heart of the free world.

And here let me express our thanks for the hospitable way in which the Canadians have been received into your hearts and homes. The Canadian forces in your midst are at once the symbol of the unity of our cause and the most precious evidence we can give of our whole-hearted support.

One purpose I had in my present visit to Britain was to gain, from a point of vantage which Britain affords, a truer picture of the world conflict than is possible anywhere else. I am more than ever convinced that the dangers we face together are world-wide dangers. The very existence of this island is threatened.

At Suez and Gibraltar, throughout the whole Mediterranean basin, there is a constant danger of enemy attacks. From the west, from the east, the security of India is threatened. In the Far East menacing clouds hang over Singapore. The most vital sources of British supplies and routes of communication and transportation are everywhere in danger. To all this must be added the enemy's gains in a long list of conquered nations. No greater mistake could be made than to fail adequately to measure the magnitude of the task; or to think that British interests alone are menaced by this world-encircling danger. The strength, resources and capacity of the enemy are so great that no country which still possesses its freedom and independence is secure today.

Battle Threatening Between Hemispheres

We face today battles not of nations but of continents. If tomorrow the world is not to face a battle between hemispheres it is going to take all the strength all the free peoples can muster to keep the conflict in this hemisphere and finally extinguish it.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King inspects a Canadian Guard of Honor, as he attended the Canadian Overseas Sports.

before the whole world is in flames.

In every country Hitlerism has found its most useful allies among those who believe they could save themselves by isolation and neutrality while others fought the battles of freedom. Although none will ever do more for freedom than the people of this island are doing in this greatest of all wars, Britain without aid far greater than any yet in sight cannot win the war for freedom the world over.

You, Mr. Churchill, said: "Give us the tools and we will finish the job." It was the appeal of a people who will never falter. But in our hearts we know today the war will be far longer, far harder, far more desperate if all free men do not rally to your side while you are at the fulcrum of your strength. For the task that faces Britain and those who fight with her is, I verily believe, nothing less than the task of saving humanity.

In recent days you and I, Mr. Prime Minister, have crossed the great northern bridge which stretches through Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland and from the old world to the new.

The narrow seas between Scotland, Iceland, between Iceland and Greenland, between Greenland and Newfoundland through which you voyaged to your historic conference with President Roosevelt, are the most vital strategic areas in the world today. As I spanned those waters and islands in the space of a single night I had a new and more vivid sense of our nearness in North America to the heart of the world's conflict.

Vital North 'Bridge' Held By Canadians

I felt a new pride, too, that from the beginning of the war Canada has been the keeper of that northern bridge. In Newfoundland and Iceland Canadian forces were pioneers from the new world. Across that bridge came vast supplies. War materials, foodstuffs, yes, and the fighting men, too.

Back across that same bridge, if this island bridgehead should ever be lost, would move enslaving hordes of new barbarians.

We know it is not enough to garrison a bridge itself unless we are prepared to defend this island which is its eastern bridgehead. That is why the fighting men of Canada are here in growing numbers to share in the task which is our defence as well as yours. By your action you, in Britain, already have made it clear you will never open to any aggressor the road across the northern bridge so long as brave men survive to keep it closed.

That the United States was to share in the keeping of this northern bridge was the best of news. I find further encouragement in the words of President Roosevelt last Monday when he said: "I know I speak for the conscience and determination of the American people when I say we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces."

The most important step in crushing Hitler is to render wholly secure this island base from which the final attack must be launched.

We in Canada were greatly heartened when three years ago the President, after referring to the Dominion of Canada as part of the sisterhood of the British Empire, declared that the people of the United States would not stand idly by if the domination of Canadian soil were threatened by any other empire. In the name of our government I reciprocated at once by recognizing Canada's responsibilities to do what lay within her power to prevent attacks through our territory upon the United States. These declarations were the starting point of our agreement for joint defence.

U.S. Declaration Could Shorten War

Today, fortunately, we are witnessing the birth of still wider arrangements for joint defence between the British Empire and the United States. Your declaration, Mr. Prime Minister, that in the Far East Britain would stand at the side of the United States is a sure sign of the deepening interdependence of the free world. A similar declaration on the part of the United States as respects Nazi Germany would, I believe, serve to shorten this perilous conflict.

Such a declaration would be full of meaning for the German people. At the same time it would constitute a realistic recognition that Britain is the one obstacle in the way of a Nazi attack upon the new world.

Without doubt Britain could, if she would, purchase a temporary respite by agreeing to the continuance of Nazi domination of continental Europe. Such a course you rightly refuse to consider because you know full well that all it would mean is an armed truce. You would face, and we in North America would face, the agony of prolonged uncertainty while Germany repaired her military machine—gathered fresh strength—for a final assault on what remained of democracy in the world.

No prospect would please the Nazis more than the opportunity of consolidating their position in conquered lands while preparing for the conquest of the rest of the world. That opportunity will never be given them. But it becomes daily clearer that resistance alone will not bring victory. Unless the whole resources, the total energy of the free world is thrown into the struggle, the war may drag on for years, carrying in its train famine, pestilence and horrors still undreamed of. Regardless of all else, we may be sure that so long as the forces of destruction continue to rage there can be no security, no progress, no peace in any corner of the world. Instead the world will drift more and more toward universal chaos in which hopes of reconstruction or of a new order may altogether disappear.

New World Order Growing Up Now

Much is being said about a new world order to take the place of the old world order when the war is at an end. If that new order is not already on its way before the war is over, we may look for it in vain. A new world order cannot be worked out at some given moment or reduced to writing at a conference table. It is not a matter of parchments and seals. That was one of the mistaken beliefs at the end of the last war. A new world order, to be worthy of the name, is something born, not made. It is something that lives and breathes, something that needs to be developed in the minds and hearts of men, something that touches the human soul. It expresses itself in goodwill, in mutual aid. It is the application in all the human relations of the principle of helpfulness and service. It is based not on fear, greed, hate, but on mutual trust and the noblest qualities of the human heart and mind. It seeks neither to divide nor destroy. Its aim is brotherhood, its method co-operation.

While the old order is destroying itself, this new relationship among men and nations already has begun its slow but sure evolution. It found expression when Britain, determined to put an end to aggression in Europe, when other nations of the British Commonwealth took their place at the side of Britain and when the United States resolved to lend its powerful aid to the nations which are fighting for freedom. It has found its latest expression in the Atlantic charter. All these factors are combining to create one great brotherhood of freedom-loving peoples.

Empire and U.S. To Provide Lead

It must now be wholly clear that if the new world order, based upon freedom, is to assume definite shape, this can only be effected through the leadership of the British Commonwealth of nations and the United States of America working in wholehearted co-operation toward this great end. On such a foundation of unity of purpose and effort all free peoples may well hope to build an enduring new world order.

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away and there was no more sea. . . and there shall be no death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for former things hath passed away."

A new heaven and a new earth—are not these in very truth what we seek today?

A heaven to which men, women and little children no longer will look in fear, but where they may gaze again in silent worship and in thankfulness for the benediction of sun and rain; an earth no longer scarred by warfare and torn by greed, but where the lowly and humble of all races may work in ways of pleasantness and walk in paths of peace.

And the sea no longer will be the scene of conflict nor harbor any menace; it, too, will gladden the hearts of men as it united in friendly intercourse the nations of the world.

Then . . . "shall all men's good be each man's rule and universal peace, like a shaft of light across the land and like a lane of beams athwart the sea thro' all the circle of the golden year."

This new heaven, this new earth is a vision which at this time of the war unites, inspires and guides Britain, Canada and other nations of the British Commonwealth, the United States and our allies in all parts of the world. No lesser vision will suffice to gain victory. No lesser service to humanity will hold the faith and win the gratitude of mankind.

Nazi Use Brass Band To Drown Interference

LONDON (CP)—The German radio used a blaring brass band in fruitless efforts to overcome interference by a mocking "mystery voice" which has been plaguing Nazi news announcers recently. Despite the brass band, the voice made itself heard with these comments: "Nobody in the world believes Hitler has the slightest chance," and "The German army will bleed to death in Russia."

160 Planes a Month And Nearly 'All-Canadian'

By NORMAN MACLEOD

Ralph P. Bell, director of the aircraft branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply, states that Canada at present is turning out in the neighborhood of 160 aircraft a month. Just what does it mean? It is well known that Canada doesn't make any airplane engines. Furthermore, many of the delicate instruments are also imported and merely installed on the assembly lines here. How much, therefore, of the completed aircraft can Canada's aircraft industry claim to have actually produced.

Research on this point in the Department of Munitions and Supply yields a surprising answer. Without allowing for the instruments that are made outside of the Dominion—a fairly minor factor in the production of the completed aircraft, Canada can claim to be producing—so engineering figures show—from two-thirds to seven-eighths of each aircraft that comes off the assembly lines in this country. The larger the type of plane, the greater is the part that Canadian productive effort plays in its manufacture.

The following figures tell the story. The first column names the type of plane, the second gives the number of man hours of labor required to produce it, exclusive of its engine, and the third gives the number of man hours of labor required to produce the engine:

Anson	21,000	5,000
Bolingbroke	45,000	13,000
Fleet trainer	2,500	1,400
Hampden	66,000	13,000
Fleet 60	12,000	2,500
Hurricane	20,000	9,000

Of the foregoing types, the Anson, Bolingbroke, Hampden, Martin B26, Stranraer, and P.B.Y. are two-engine aircraft, and the labor hours quoted represent the total required to turn out both motors.

From these figures it is apparent that, in the case of the huge P.B.Y. aircraft, which requires a total of 137,000 hours of labor for machine and engine combined, Canada's aircraft industry contributes 120,000 labor hours—or approximately seven-eighths of the job.

On the other hand, in the case of a small Fleet trainer, which only requires 2,500 man hours for its completion, Canadian aircraft factories contribute only 2,500 hours—or a little more than two-thirds of the completed aircraft.

OFFICER CADETS GRADUATING

Graduation exercises of the second full class of officer cadets at Gordon Head training centre will be held 11 a.m. Friday.

Certificates will be presented to 140 officer cadets. The graduation exercises will include a parade, march past and salute, in which all officer cadets attending the centre will take part. Major-General R. O. Alexander, general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific Command, will address the graduates and the retiring Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. E. W. Hamber, will present certificates. The public is invited to attend the ceremonies.

The graduating class began its course three months ago. Members, drawn from units throughout western Canada, will now be fully qualified second lieutenants in the Active Army and will leave immediately for advanced training courses in eastern Canada to qualify as lieutenants.

Another class will be admitted to the Gordon Head centre on Monday.

What an Army

A young lieutenant paid a dime for 100 shots with a photo-electric gun at the tiny figure of a man running around in a circle. As the officer started firing, a young boy sidled up eagerly to watch.

The lieutenant missed 59 times, hit the target with his 60th round, and then missed 40 more times. The boy, disillusioned and disgusted, stalked off, exclaiming: "Gee, what an army!"

Lake Loggers Make Demands

LAKE COWICHAN—Examination of Nigel Morgan, international board member of the International Woodworkers of America, was continued by Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark, counsel for the Lake Logging Company, when the provincial arbitration board, under Dean F. M. Clement, resumed hearings today.

The dispute is between the logging company and 300 employees over union recognition, seniority rights, leave of absence and a closed shop.

The hearing is being conducted at the logging camp, 16 miles from here.

In testifying yesterday Morgan contended that there were 5,000 members of the I.W.A. in British Columbia, 4,500 in logging camps and 500 in sawmills.

He said that 13 logging camps in the province have the check-off system, whereby the company deducts union dues from employees' wages, and that the Lake Logging Company followed this practice when the dispute arose early this summer.

The employees are seeking a signed agreement with the company in place of the agreement under which they have been working whereby the company recognizes representatives elected by the men, who do not necessarily have to be employees, but does not recognize the I.W.A.

Four employees of the company's camp here, Archie MacNeil, Henry Lehti, Thomas Cuthbert and Olaf Whitney, testified yesterday. All said they had not suffered from the lack of a signed seniority and leave of absence agreement.

The four, all members of the I.W.A., stressed their desire for a signed union agreement granting seniority rights, leave of absence and a closed shop.

Appearing before the board yesterday for the employees were Harold Pritchett, past president of the International Woodworkers of America; John Humphries, secretary of the Bakers' and Confectioners' Union; Edward Boyce of the International Mine Workers of America, and Hjalmar Bergen of the B.C. District Council of the I.W.A.

With completion of hearings at the camp, the Provincial Arbitration Board will return to Vancouver, where arguments by counsel for the company and the employees will be presented.

He attended Oak Bay School and Oak Bay High School before going to college. The picture was taken while he and his friend were at Patricia Bay.

MAP PRESENTS B.C.-ALASKA ROAD

Included in the list of displays at the Victoria Fall Fair, opening at the Willows for seven days commencing Saturday, is a large-scale, specially-designed map of the British Columbia-Alaska Highway.

Showing the various suggested routes from San Francisco to Fairbanks, Alaska, this map was prepared under the auspices of the Provincial Department of Public Works, and under the joint supervision of Arthur Dixon, Deputy Minister of Public Works, and Major W. G. H. Firth of the geographic division, Department of Lands. The map measures 19x5 feet.

Great care has been taken in its preparation, and all natural features are included. Drawn to a scale of 16 miles to the inch, it gives a graphic portrayal of the territory traversed by the routes A, B and C, each of which is shown in a distinctive color.

The map was displayed for the first time at the Canada Pacific Exhibition in Vancouver, where it formed a centre of attraction, and it is felt that it will add materially to the interest in the exhibition here.

Other outstanding exhibits include displays by the Forestry Department, Education Department, Department of National Defence, the Shell Oil Company and Famous Players (Canada) Limited.

Federal Pensioners Seeking Bonus

More than 40 retired federal civil servants or widows of civil servants living in this district are petitioning Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of Finance, for a cost-of-living bonus of an equal amount to that granted civil servants already in service. William M. Halliday, chairman of the group, announced today.

"This extra grant will in no way be a drain upon the taxpayers," Mr. Halliday said. "We contributed 5 per cent of our gross salaries to the fund, which is large enough to take care of a bonus."

Saanich Council Grants Bonus

Saanich council allowed a motion granting employees a $5 a month cost of living bonus to stand last night despite the fact that at least two employees will lose 20 cents a month through gaining the bonus.

The two affected are married men whose regular salaries are $100. The $5 bonus makes them liable for national defence and superannuation taxes totaling $5.20 a month.

The cost of living bonus is being granted to all regular Saanich municipal employees earning $100 a month or less.

Reeve L. H. Passmore reported that Hon. George Pearson, Provincial Labor Minister, had indicated to a Saanich delegation that the provincial government would give serious consideration to raising relief allowances for unemployed. The delegation also sought an increase in mothers' and old age pensions. The reeve said Mr. Pearson had pointed out that the federal government was largely responsible for these pensions and that the provincial government had sought increases on several occasions.

The Saanich waterworks loan by-law was given second reading. Final reading will be given to the by-law after September 20, if the well project is approved, by the ratepayers on that date.

Request of the Royal Oak Boy Scouts for a grant equal to taxes on their property was granted.

A letter was received from J. B. Adams, asking that he be reimbursed to the extent of $170 for an appeal regarding his subdivision on Gorge Road. The council previously had turned down Mr. Adams' plan, and he had appealed to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and secured support for the subdivision. The letter was referred to the municipal solicitor.

The council approved an annual grant for cleaning out McHugh ditch, running from Telegraph Road to Cordova Bay. The municipality will pay half the cost, with $150 as the maximum. Property owners will pay the remainder.

A quotation of $24 was received from the B.C. Electric Railway Company for installation of a street light at Walter and Davida Streets, the municipality to supply a lamp, bracket and shade.

The council granted $10 toward the cost of preparing a pharmacopoeial guide for use by physicians and druggists in supplying prescriptions for indigents.

Members of the council voted unanimously to ask the provincial government to end daylight saving time. Councillor J. L. Hobbs made the motion, explaining that representations had been made to him by residents of Gordon Head.

STRAWBERRY VALE

Wilkinson Road United Women's Missionary Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Rainer, Lowenholtz Road, with Mrs. A. Allison presiding. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the parsonage with Mesdames J. Hoy and A. P. Fryatt as program conveners.

LABOR COUNCIL RAPS POLL TAX

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council last night endorsed five resolutions to be forwarded to the Trades and Labor Congress at Calgary in the near future.

The resolutions asked: That a compulsory holiday of one week with pay be given all employees.

That since all tenants of property pay taxes indirectly, the city road and poll tax be abolished.

That the cost of living bonuses be extended to all persons gainfully employed, and that a local cost of living table be compiled to replace the national index.

That a request be registered with the government to satisfactorily protect the right of collective bargaining and the workers' right to organize freely into unions of their own choosing.

That labor leaders who have been interned and imprisoned because of union activities be immediately released.

The meeting supported a move to request an investigation into fuel conditions and prices in Victoria by the Wartime Prices and Control Board.

The council accepted as members operating plasterers and cement finishers and recognized delegates from the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union of America.

A.R.P. ACTIVITIES

A meeting will be held at the Tillicum School on Thursday, September 4, at 8 p.m. Corporal Taylor of the Provincial Police will lecture.

Canada Facing Severe Gas Cut

TORONTO (CP)—Canada is on the verge of serious curtailment of gasoline, George R. Cottrell, federal oil controller, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association today.

"How far we have to go in the curtailment of non-essential use of gasoline I'm not prepared to say, but I will say we will have to go a long way yet," the oil controller said, adding the supply on hand would not last many days.

He said that if Canada had not curtailed oil consumption it would have to import 55,000,000 barrels of oil.

"If control had not been imposed," he said, "Canadians would have used 65,000,000 barrels of oil this year."

NEEDED BY BRITAIN

Speaking on the difficulty of importing oil, he said that although Canada is the second largest per capita consumer of petroleum products in the world, and fifth largest in total consumption, her tanker fleet is exceedingly small and badly needed for transport to Britain.

"There isn't any doubt that practically every tanker in this country will go to the combat zone," he said, adding that one of the nine tankers flying the Canadian flag had already been sunk by enemy action.

Concerning Canadian production of oil, the controller said production in the west will be short about 1,000,000 barrels in spite of an increased number of wells.

He denied that Canadian oil wells had been "kept in" and said that "we have 161 wells producing this year where we had 120 last year."

Maintaining that every encouragement short of financial aid from federal sources had been given, Mr. Cottrell declared "so long as I am oil controller, there will be no government funds going into the drilling of wells in Canada."

The public appeal for curtailment of consumption had taken hold, he said, adding that the restriction of hours of sale had been decreed to draw the attention of the public to its wartime responsibilities, not to solve the problem itself.

NOAKES-BRODIE

Saint Peter's Episcopal Church, San Francisco, was the scene of a wedding of much interest in British Columbia when, last night at 8, Miss Elizabeth Wright Brodie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Brodie of 3101 Irving Street, San Francisco, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Eric Noakes, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Noakes, 1455 Fort Street, Victoria.

By the light of tall cathedral tapers and against a background of white gladioli on the altar and chancel, Rev. John Collins, the rector, read the marriage service. The organist played the wedding music and a soloist sang during the signing of the register. Wearing a bouffant gown of brocade moire in antique ivory tone, with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, the very full skirt extending to a long full train, and a filmy veil of antique ivory illusion held by a tiara of pearls, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Two bridesmaids preceded the bride down the aisle, Miss May Noakes of Victoria, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara Starkey of Sebastopol, Cal., both gowned alike in ciel-blue moire, with floor-length bouffant skirts, and sweetheart neckline. They wore headresses of fresh pink begonias, and carried shower bouquets of palest pink begonias. Mr. Chas. Cohn of San Francisco was groomsmen, and the bride's brothers, Messrs. Arthur and Sidney Brodie, were ushers.

A large number of guests were welcomed after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple receiving the felicitations of their friends before the fireplace which were banked with white gladioli and fern, similar flowers being used throughout the reception-rooms. Mrs. Brodie received in a handsome formal gown of black lace, assisted by Mrs. Noakes, the groom's mother, in a floor-length gown of plum-colored cut velvet, and wide-brimmed black hat with a crown of plum-colored velvet flowers. Both wore corsage bouquets of gardenias.

The bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake, the floral arrangements being of white gladioli and gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Noakes will motor to southern California for a few days before leaving for Victoria to make their home at Ashley Lodge, Linden Avenue, the bride traveling in a burgundy wool suit, with black accessories.

OCKENDEN-SILK

At a quiet ceremony, at the Metropolitan Manse, August 30, at 7.30 p.m., Capt. George Hamilton united in marriage Ethel May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Silk, McLaughlin, Alta., and Sergt. John Trevor Ockenden, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ockenden, Lloydminster, Sask. The bride, who was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, Mr. W. Blance of Victoria, wore a becoming navy blue suit, with white sheer blouse and navy sweetheart hat, a corsage of gardenias and rosebuds, and a heart-shaped locket of gold, a present of the groom. Miss Anne Silk of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, was her sister's only attendant, and the groom was supported by Mr. Martin Sherwin of Victoria. The wedding march was played by Miss Helen Ockenden, cousin of the groom, a small reception being held at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ockenden, 26 Paddon Avenue, where the rooms were decorated with summer flowers. Mrs. W. Blance and Mrs. H. Hearn of Lethbridge, Alta., aunts of the groom, presided at the supper table, in the centre of which was the bride cake surrounded by vases of yellow daisies and mauve larkspur. A host of friends saw Mr. and Mrs. Ockenden off on the midnight boat for a honeymoon on the mainland, after which they will make their home in Vancouver.

NELSON-NORRIS
A wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening last at 8.30, when Constance Isabelle, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Norris, of Delisle, Sask., became the bride of Nels John Nelson, R.C.N., twin son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, Wainwright, Alberta. Rev. J. L. W. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Gleave. Her floor-length wedding gown was of white crepe, with a full skirt and shirred bodice. She wore her sister's wedding veil and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and carnations. Miss Georgina Gregory, in a gown of turquoise blue and carrying a bouquet of gladioli and maiden-hair fern, was the bride's attendant. The groom was supported by Mr. Herman Holdsworth. Miss Margaret Scouler played the wedding music.

A reception was held in the private dining-room of the Douglas Hotel, when a large number of friends and relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, the bride traveling in a rust dress with dark green accessories and tweed coat. They will make their home in Victoria.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Barclay of Vernon, and grandson of the late Hon. C. F. Cornwall, a former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and Mrs. Cornwall.

Social and Personal

Miss Marion Robertson of Vancouver is spending a week in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lyle, Menzies Street.

Mrs. W. Ashley, the Balmoral Hotel, and her daughter, Miss Madge Ashley, have left for Qualicum to spend a few weeks there.

Mrs. Garnet Lee of Vancouver, after spending a few days in Victoria with Mr. and Mrs. L. S. V. York, Belcher Avenue, returned home yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Harry Dodds, Quadra Street, has returned from Vancouver, where he spent a few days with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dodds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dickson of Winnipeg are visiting in Victoria as the guests of Mr. Dickson's sister, Mrs. M. G. McCarroll, Dysart Road.

Mrs. J. Carl Pendray, Beach Drive, and Miss Eileen Pendray, who have been spending the last two weeks in Banff, returned home this morning. Mr. Pendray, who accompanied them to Banff, is now on a business trip to the prairies.

Mrs. Geo. Longstaff and Mrs. H. Wakefield were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower last evening at the home of Mrs. Longstaff, Lampson Street, the affair being held in compliment to her sister, Miss Eva Elston, who is to be married shortly to Mr. John Gordon Stevens. A corsage bouquet of red, white and blue flowers was presented to Miss Elston on her arrival, and later little Lorraine Longstaff, her niece, handed her the many attractive packages from a drum decorated in red, white and blue, and topped with a miniature drum-major, in compliment to the prospective groom, who holds that position with the Esquimalt Garrison Band. The patriotic color motif was repeated in the floral decorations of the supper table, which was covered with a cutwork cloth. Among the guests were Mesdames F. Elston Sr., F. Elston Jr., John Dugdale, Walker, K. Kerr, E. Conroy, T. Phillips, W. Yeamans, A. Wilkinson, and the Misses Kay and Florence Elston, Catherine Corey, Mollie Bevan-Pritchard, Myrtle Cook and Margaret Cargo.

Nearly $600 Raised At Red Cross Fete

Social life in the pioneer days of Victoria was recalled by the parade of lovely old gowns shown to an admiring crowd of nearly 400 guests as the highlight of the entertainment arranged at the Red Cross fete held yesterday afternoon at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

Silks which literally stood alone and in condition as good as the day on which they first graced the slender form of the belles of that day, exquisite laces, quaint little shawls and tippets, bonnets, fans, reticules and vinaigrettes, all had their share in the collection loaned by members of Victoria's pioneer families, and ranging in date from 1800 to 1912.

THE MANNEQUINS

Led by Miss Diana Macdowell, in the handsome ceremonial dress formerly worn by "Nich-a-Moose," daughter of a Blackfoot chief, and Mr. Fergus Macdowell, as "Neena-Pooka," Indian Blackfoot chief, the parade included the following mannequins: The year 1800, modeled by Miss Marjorie Barr; 1820, Miss Catherine Macdonald; 1837, Miss Margaret Curry; 1840, Miss Jean Macdonald; 1860, Miss Marcia Prior; 1860, Miss Peggy Angus; 1860, Miss Elizabeth Adams; 1864, Miss Yolande Langworthy; 1865, Miss Betty-Lou Horton; 1870, Miss Vivienne King; 1880, Miss Molly McCallum; 1885, Miss Moira May; 1892, Miss Vervan Yarrow; 1895, Miss Pat Barr; 1905, Miss Cynthia Farrow; 1912, Miss Angela Harrison; 1885, Miss Flora Hamilton Burns.

Although the rain caused the cancellation of aquatic display arranged by Mr. Archie McKinnon and necessitated the R.C.A.F. band playing on the veranda instead of in the garden, the success of the afternoon was outstanding both from the social and financial standpoints. The sum of $576.25 taken in yesterday will be augmented by several other donations promised.

WORKERS NEEDED

Capt. F. G. Dexter, president of the Oak Bay unit, formally opened the affair and took the occasion to speak of the good work being done by the unit and the increasing need for workers at the rooms, especially women able to use sewing machines for making girls' skirts, blouses, slacks and men's shirts. The unit is concentrating on making articles for the civilian defence workers overseas and volunteers are asked to call at the rooms on Tuesday mornings or Friday afternoons, or to get in touch with one of the members of the committee.

Mrs. H. R. Beaven, general convener, Lady Lake, Mrs. John Musgrave, Mrs. L. O. Howard, Mrs. W. L. Woodhouse, Mrs. C. C. Raven and Miss Diana Macdowell constituting the reception committee. Major L. Fifteen tables of bridge and mah jong were in play at the hotel, while eight other tables were arranged at the home of Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson. Mrs. A. N. Moutat had charge of the bridge, assisted by Mrs. P. F. Curtis. Mr. Hastie Cochrane donated two hand-woven rugs, which were sold during the afternoon, the larger of which was a "Victory" rug and attracted a great deal of interest. The two little daughters and small son of Capt. W. G. Merston gave valuable assistance at the door and in numerous other ways.

Farm Women Praised For Their Part in War Effort

OTTAWA (CP)—Rural women have a great task to perform in the fight for democracy and have every reason to be proud of their part in the war effort, Mrs. M. Schuttler, departmental chief of the American Farm Bureau in Missouri, last night told 125 Canadian and United States delegates to the regional conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

When the ordinary person talks of "women farmers," she said, he is thinking primarily of women who manage their own farms, but actually all farm women are "women farmers." They are "really professional women entitled to professional pride."

"Women who are on farms have been too modest," Mrs. Schuttler said.

"Farm women manage their homes, poultry yards, dairies and gardens. Every can of string beans, every jar of preserved fruit, every fresh vegetable plate served on the home table releases just that much of other necessities to the countries fighting for democracy."

PRINCESS JULIANA

Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, in the name of her people, thanked Canadian and American women for the sympathy shown for her countrywomen and spoke of the bravery of Dutch farm women in enduring hardship and hunger in the cause of democracy. Agriculture Minister Gardiner paid tribute to farm women for the way they have co-operated in making Canada's wartime food program successful.

Speaking of rationing in England and the lack of it in Canada, Mr. Gardiner said: "We are not rationed in the same sense, yet if you examine the figures for certain food products—bacon, cheese, eggs and others—you will see that in the case of bacon we have promised to send 600,000,000 pounds of pork products to Britain in the third year of the war. "We will do it, even if it means there is not a pound left in Canada for home consumption."

AS expected the favored James Bay club polished off the Alerts Tuesday night to retain its city box lacrosse championship. On the strength of their fine league record the Bays were the natural team to lift the title. Ted Menzies' boys had blanketed the field throughout the season and, regardless of the feelings of a partisan crowd, deserved the championship. The Bays will be worthy representatives of the city in the campaign for the British Columbia intermediate crown.

Action of the fans at Tuesday's final game reminded us of those incidents during the United States amateur golf final at Omaha Saturday when the gallery tried just about everything to bring about the defeat of Bud Ward. It is hard to figure out all the animosity against the Bays. We know many fans like to see a winning club beaten, but when a crowd takes to booing and attempting to shout down an outsider making a cup presentation it is another thing. After all, the Bays had won the title and were receiving their just reward and rightly deserved better treatment. Goats Art McKim, captain of the Bays, is as clean an athlete as we have had the pleasure to know and should not have had to undergo the boos and cat-calls he suffered while accepting the championship trophy on behalf of his teammates.

Ted Menzies, manager of the Bays, called us up the next day and expressed his opinion of the Victoria fans which cannot be repeated in this column. "But just tell the Victoria crowd we love it," he said.

Players and officials of the box lacrosse association who might have wondered at the failure of trainer Bobby Van Horne to make his nightly appearance Tuesday know now it was for a good reason. Bob had just become the proud father of an eight-pound baby girl. It took such an epic event to make the tape and bandage expert miss his first game of the season.

Those horse racing fans who like to burn the midnight oil thumbing through tattered and torn form charts are in their glory again. The ponies will be

Vancouver Grid Prospects

Grizzlies Shape Well

VANCOUVER (CP) — Newcomers to the Western Interprovincial Football Union, the Vancouver Grizzlies are being molded rapidly into a squad capable of providing stiff competition to the other two entries, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Regina Roughriders.

Backed by the competent guidance and whip-cracking of coach Greg Kabat, former Blue Bomber coach and key player, and inspired by importation of several prairie stars, Grizzlies are responding with enthusiasm in training. Kabat is confident that by building the team around the imports he will "develop something that will open the eyes of the eastern teams."

The Grizzlies will be all set for their September 13 debut here against Regina.

Coach of the Winnipeg squad in 1934 when it lost to Regina in the western Canada final and three times winner of a place on the union's annual all-star team, Kabat will have as his assistant coach Jimmy Gilkes, well-known Calgary athlete and former Bronk backfield ace. He will play right half-back.

EXCEPTIONAL SPEED

Rated as one of the Bronks' best products, Gilkes is a little on the small side but has offset this by his exceptional speed and tricky running.

Larry Haynes, Calgary's 1940 playing manager and all-star union end last year, will appear in the red and gold colors of the Vancouver team this year along with two more ex-Bronks—Gorback at the Willows Saturday. Vanguard of the track officials, owners, jockeys and stable boys have already hit town, and by Friday night the city will be racing conscious for another two weeks.

Last year the Victoria meeting was one of the most successful in local history. The approaching 14 days promise to hit an equal peak. Everything points to a smart meeting. All the important stables have shipped here and officials promise good fields for both handicaps and claimers.

Following up our comment of yesterday on Bud Ward's victory in the U.S. golf final we give you a few remarks by Bill Boni, noted sports writer for the Associated Press:

"Of all the factors which make Marvin (Bud) Ward the No. 1 amateur golfer in the country today—his compact, powerful body, his sense of timing, his skill at every variety of shot—it is his uncanny ability to concentrate on the job at hand that again has brought him the national championship.

"Ward needed his other attributes to come out the winner over a tough field on a difficult course. But it was his ability to shut himself away from all outside distractions that brought the purposeful Spokane boy through to a 4 and 3 final victory over Pat Abbott.

"Without that knack he easily might have been thrown off stride by the very open resentment of 3,000 unruly spectators who showed from the start they would like nothing better than to see Ward jicked.

"The very fact that Ward can concentrate so well probably is one reason he is not a gallery favorite. He keeps bearing down all the way. But then, as he himself puts it:

"When you go into a championship you go in to win, don't you?"

"Off the course he is a pleasant, highly likeable young man—badly hurt, now, by the treatment he received. There was a party in his honor and when strangers came up to shake his hand, Bud would look at them and say:

"I'm a mean cuss, don't you think?"

World Series

Opening Game Oct. 1

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis decided yesterday that the 1941 world series would start Wednesday, October 1, in Yankee Stadium, and in mapping out the series schedule, made only one change from past years.

This was that, regardless of which club wins the National League pennant, there will be a one-day lay-off between the sixth and seventh games, if the series goes seven games, to permit a satisfactory sale of tickets. Judge Landis pointed out that in the past, when a series went seven games and the final game was played the day after the sixth contest, there was not sufficient time to seek enough tickets.

Jokers Battle Bays Tomorrow

In spite of being knocked out of the semifinals of the city championships by the Alerts, in the backs of the minds of all the Joker players and of coach Jimmy Smith, persisted the hunch that the blackshirt lacrosse crew could take the mighty Bays. And tomorrow night the boys will get their chance.

With the ending of the finals on Tuesday evening the Jokers immediately flung a challenge at the Bays to play a bolstered blackshirt team on Friday night in an exhibition game. The bolstering consists of Jackie James, formerly of Richmond Farmers, and Ken Featherstone, a Victoria born boy who made a name for himself with New Westminster Salmonbellies.

The champions, backed by the verbal determination of manager Ted Menzies, let the Jokers know they could pad their team all they wanted and the Bays would still take them.

So tomorrow evening, a greatly bolstered Joker outfit will meet the champs in an effort to get their first victory in two years over that team. Game will start at 8.30. The blackshirts will practice tonight at 7.30. Joker line-up follows: W. Andrews, Mackay, Fridham, Harding, Dale, Turner, Caydzien, Ludbrook, W. Allen, R. Allen, Mair, Calverly, Uttke, Minns, James, Featherstone and Coleman.

The Bays, however, have more in store. On Monday evening, at Terry's, the champions will hold a victory dinner. Players of the Bay team will be present and coaches and managers of the Jokers, Alerts, McLean's Bakery, Owl Drug, Douglas Tire and Heaney's will also be guests. The boxer executive, former officials and referees have also been invited. The affair will start at 6.30.

SOFTBALL TONIGHT

V.L.A.-Causeway Service softball kings will play Macdonald Electric in a Calvert Cup game at Victoria West Park this evening. The game was scheduled for last evening, but wet grounds caused a postponement.

Tomorrow evening final of the Memorial Trophy series between Hunt's Garage and Adverts will be played at Central Park. Both games are scheduled for 6.30.

POSTPONE FIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fight promoter Sid Beech yesterday announced that the Canadian heavy-weight championship bout between Eddie Winstob, Viking, Alta, and Al Delaney of Windsor, Ont., defending champion, scheduled for September 10, has been postponed and the date tentatively set back to October 1.

The postponement was at the request of Delaney and his manager, Melvin Brophy, who claim the reprieve is to give Delaney time to get in physical fighting condition.

Yanks Game Off Flag

Dodgers Split Two

New York Yankees may clinch their American League baseball pennant today—their fifth championship in six years—and the dodgers over in the National League must be trembling at the thought of the forthcoming world series.

The Yanks are in Boston and need only one more victory figuratively to sew the bird bunting onto their flagpole. They may not get it today, of course, but the outcome is inevitable.

They squeezed the Red Sox through a 2 to 1 11-inning wringer yesterday to assure themselves of no worse than a tie. They have won 90 games and lost 45. If they lose every one of their remaining 19 contests they still will have only 64 defeats—same number that Boston and Chicago White Sox, tied for second place, already have.

Today, if the Yanks nail down their flag, it will be with both their Joe's, McCarthy and DiMaggio, absent from the scene. The manager was left behind in a Washington hospital for treatment of a gall bladder ailment and DiMaggio was left at home to recover from an ankle injury.

Their part in getting the Yanks to the top won't be overlooked, however, and both are expected to rejoin the club in New York this week-end.

The Yanks were nearly given the works by Charley Wagner of the Red Sox yesterday. They were held to seven hits and it took Tom Henrich's 27th homer in the eighth inning to throw the game into extra innings and give New York a chance to win in the 11th when Red Rolfe hit into a force play with the bases loaded, scoring one run.

BONHAM IN FORM

Big Ernie Bonham pitched scoreless ball for six innings in rebuttal and Boston's only run came on a triple by Pete Fox and a single by Joe Cronin in the seventh.

Meanwhile Brooklyn Dodgers blew a bountiful opportunity to take the National League lead away from St. Louis Cardinals, who were kept idle by rain.

Brooklyn had a doubleheader with the last-place Phillies and won the first game 4 to 1 with Whit Wyatt pitching a four-hitter for his 19th victory. Then manager Leo Durocher gambled on a young right-hander named Ed Albosta, who reported two days before from Durham of the Piedmont League. The Phils gave him a going over to win the nightcap 4 to 1 with Frank Hoerst pitching four-hit ball and blanking Brooklyn till the ninth. This put the Dodgers four percentage points instead of two behind the Cards.

Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 3 to 2 in a night game. Washington whipped Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 8 with a five-run rally in the ninth.

COAST LEAGUE

San Diego, obviously, has pulled another rabbit out of its baseball cap.

Only two games away from the Coast League lead in spite of performing with a catcher on third base, an outfielder at first and an infielder in right, the remarkable Padres today present

Bill Thomas as an ordinary, journeyman pitcher who suddenly has grown invincible.

Thomas blanked Hollywood 6 to 0 last night for his second shutout in three days and his third victory in little more than a week. Tuesday of last week he stopped Sacramento 5 to 3 on six hits and Sunday he repeated against the Solons 1 to 0—a two-hit job. Last night's turn was a seven-hitter.

Thus the Padres now apparently have a third reliable to go along with their other jewels, 22-game-winners Wally Hebert and Yank Terry.

And the trio may well pitch San Diego into the pennant, particularly if Sacramento persists in such demonstrations of collapse as cost it an 11 to 9 defeat by Oakland last night.

Other games were rained out. Scores follow:

New York Giants Whip Collegians

NEW YORK (AP)—Piling up their points through one sustained drive, a forward pass, an intercepted pass and a 32-yard field goal, New York Giants of the National League defeated the eastern college all-stars 23 to 3 in a benefit football game before a capacity crowd of 54,279 at the Polo Grounds last night.

It was a punchless ball game which saw the professionals gain revenge for their 1940 defeat by another all-star crew, and it was just that chiefly because the stars lacked cohesion on offense.

BASEBALL RAINED OUT

Last night's playoff baseball game between Eagles and Pitzer & Nex senior teams was rained out. The clubs will meet tomorrow evening, weather permitting.

Victoria Gets Team In Coast Ice League

McNeill Hits Tennis Form

NEW YORK (AP)—Defending champion Don McNeill of Oklahoma City looked like anything but a has-been yesterday as he knocked a determined Wayne Sabin out of the United States tennis championships at Forest Hills by scores of 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.

McNeill appeared yesterday to have regained completely the smart forecourt game that carried him to victory a year ago. Up to the championships, he had been playing indifferent tennis for a topnotcher and was seeded third behind Bobby Riggs and Frank Kovacs by the tournament committee.

The triumph brought McNeill through to the semifinals in which he will encounter Kovacs tomorrow. Kovacs, the Oakland stylist, was never extended yesterday in eliminating young John Kramer of Montebello, Cal., 6-4, 7-5, 7-5, despite the apparently close score.

In the other men's quarter-finals today, Riggs was to face Frankie Parker, and Bryan Grant attempted to score his third straight upset at the expense of Ted Schroeder, seeded No. 4.

Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and Margaret Osborne of San Francisco accompanied each other into the semifinals of the women's championships, Miss Betz defeating Barbara Kruse of San Francisco 6-2, 6-2, and Miss Osborne scoring a surprisingly one-sided victory over Helen Bernhard of New York 6-3, 6-1.

LAWN BOWLING

The games arranged for yesterday by the Victoria Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club in aid of bombed-out families in England and Scotland were canceled because of unfavorable weather. The draw for the prizes for the same purpose has been postponed till tomorrow afternoon, and will take place in the clubhouse at Beacon Hill greens.

Lawn bowlers are asked to remember the games arranged for Saturday, September 13, in aid of the "Save the Babies Fund," sponsored by the B.C. Lawn Bowling Association.

Police, Cards Tangle Tonight

A hilarious time is promised at Athletic Park this evening when Victoria policemen forget about their law and order duties and try their hand at playing softball against one of the leading local girls' teams, the Cardinals, in an exhibition in aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund.

The game is scheduled for 6.30. How many innings the game will go is a mystery.

The bluecoats will be managed by Samuel "Popeye" McKenzie, who will attempt to hold down third base. It has been whispered in the coppers' camp that Boss McKenzie is capable only of catching a ball by putting into use his hobble helmet.

Sam has a colorful team behind him though. Starting pitcher will be "Spitball" Greenwood, and the boy behind the plate will be "Bunty" Bone.

"We're packing a lot of weight in that section," said McKenzie. "It'll be tough getting past those two."

On first base will be "Penny" Matland, who is more commonly known among his teammates as "Take me out, Harry." On second will be "Gabby" Galbraith. "Stuffy" Mair will work at the shortstop position.

"Tubby" Andrews will be plainly seen out in left field. At centre will be "Lefty" Briggs, the home run king. "Cougar" Clayards will round out the team in the right fielder's slot.

BOWLERS MEET

A meeting of the Women's Tenth Bowling League will be held at the Arcade Alleys tomorrow evening at 8. All of last year's teams are asked to have delegates, while any new club is invited to have representation on hand. Election of officers will be held and plans for the coming season discussed.

Four Clubs Start Play In November

Plans for a four-team Pacific coast intermediate amateur hockey league were made at a special meeting last night at Nanaimo, attended by representatives from Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo and New Westminster.

It was tentatively planned to open the season during the first week of November with each team playing a 28-game schedule, made up of 14 home games.

Jack Ryan of Nanaimo was elected president, with Ken McKenzie of New Westminster vice-president and Harry Forward of Nanaimo secretary-treasurer. Commissioners will be Gerry Berry, Nanaimo; Eric Cox, Victoria, and George Cassidy, New Westminster. A delegate to act for Vancouver has yet to be named.

Delegates attending last night's meeting were H. B. Olson, Ivan Temple and Eric Cox of Victoria; Eldon Seney and Ken McKenzie of New Westminster; Harry Jones of Vancouver and Jack Ryan, Harry Forward, Gerry Berry and Bill Phillips of Nanaimo.

All delegates said they planned to import players from the prairies and eastern Canada, and possibly might add to their roster with reinstated amateurs from the professional Pacific Coast Hockey League, which is not expected to function this season.

Another meeting of the executive to discuss possible amendment to the proposed constitution and general league policy will be held at Nanaimo, September 14.

Nanaimo has pioneered the way for a return to senior amateur hockey on the coast, entering the intermediate league last year and ending as a finalist in the western Canada playoffs.

LACROSSE GAMES

To the Sports Editor:—I have been a regular fan at box lacrosse games at the Sports Centre this season. It is too bad the officials have not carried out their duties from the sporting angle. After witnessing the long-drawn-out series caused by inefficiency of some officials, I have been lucky to witness one good game, the others turning out to be common brawls.

Saturday night's game was a disgrace to those who go for clean sport. In my opinion if the referees would go on the floor unbiased and penalize all offenders of the rules, conditions would never reach the stage they have. As one official was heard to say a couple of games ago, they are interested in the gates only. Through lack of foresight they are not only turning sport fans away but are killing lacrosse once again for Victoria. These complaints are the reason the army team was withdrawn from the league.

What is behind the set-up? Why are the police on duty at Sports Centre if not to stop fighting between players in the penalty box? Somebody's son is going to get badly hurt, then watch for excuses.

$306,000 of Tax Refunds Goes Into War Savings

Income taxpayers of British Columbia invested $306,000 of their tax rebates this year in war savings stamps, the provincial treasury announced today after making a final check of returns. This represented 25 per cent of the refunds paid out.

In a few months taxpayers will have another opportunity to invest their "found" money in stamps. After enabling legislation is passed the treasury will refund the 1 per cent deductions made between January 1 and June 30 and the contributors will be given the choice of taking their rebates in the special war savings stamp cheques.

Racing Agreement Up for Discussion

The City Council, meeting Friday afternoon at 3, may consider an agreement between S. W. Randall and the city covering racing privileges at the Willows, it was learned at the City Hall today.

Mr. Randall conferred with Mayor Andrew McGavin and Alderman W. L. Morgan, finance committee chairman, this morning on the agreement drafted to replace that which expires at the end of this year. The mayor indicated a satisfactory settlement could be expected on controversial questions. Such action, however, would have to be recommended by the finance committee and approved by the council, he noted. The finance group will meet tomorrow morning at 10 to consider the question.

Tomorrow's council meeting was called to free the mayor and aldermen from routine civic duties next week when a number of them will be engaged in semi-official business.

Cotton to Replace Burlap in Sacks

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—This business of having to find substitutes because of the defence effort turns up in unexpected places. In addition to army, navy and British demands for increased food supplies, plus all the wrangling over increased parity payments and the 49-cent penalty on surplus wheat, preparedness and priorities reach down to the farm, and in ways that you'd never think.

Take the ordinary, everyday gunnysack, for instance—burlap if you want to give it the proper name. Practically all the burlap used in the United States is imported from India, and 80 per cent of the year's normal supply of 725,000,000 yards is used for bagging farm products—potatoes, fertilizer, cotton bales and so on. But shipping space from India is scarce. The supply is unequal to the demand, and prices would have been way up by now if OPACS—Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply—hadn't slapped down a maximum to keep the matter under control.

While that keeps the price in line, it still doesn't supply any more burlap and if the country should ever have to do a lot of real defence building, such as sandbagging the Statue of Liberty, Boulder Dam, or any other national monument, things would really get tough.

The only answer to the problem is to start making bags out of something else. Right here is where all that surplus cotton comes in. Also, it's right where the Department of Agriculture's big program of finding new uses for farm surpluses comes in, and all its research is just starting to pay dividends in a constructive way.

IN THE BAG FOR COTTON

Bags formerly made of burlap, because it was cheaper, will have to be made out of cotton even though the price of cotton is being permitted to rise while the price of burlap is pegged.

In connection with cotton bale coverings, a curious sidelight: Cotton bales have always been wrapped in burlap because the burlap wrapping for a bale of cotton is seven and a half pounds heavier than a cotton pattern wrapping would be, and cotton is bought and sold on a gross weight basis. Cotton growers, thinking they have been beating the buyers, have always figured they were selling that seven and a half pounds of cheap burlap at cotton prices. For that simple reason and no other it has been impossible to persuade the tradition-bound cotton grower to change his ways to the extent of using a cotton wrapped bale.

Naturally, the cotton buyers have known that this seven and a half pounds of extra burlap weight was there and have rigged their prices accordingly, but it has been impossible to sell that idea in the south, even though the use of cotton pattern wrappers for a crop of 12,000,000 bales would have helped consume another 130,000 bales of surplus cotton.

Use of bale wrappers is only one of the new uses for cotton which have been worked out by the Department of Agriculture, largely through its Southern Regional Research Laboratory at New Orleans. And in many of these new uses, defence scarcities may force into use substitutes which logically should have been adopted years ago.

Take the making of high grade writing papers, known to the trade as rag papers because cotton rags have been digested to secure the fibres for the hard finish sheets. There is a scarcity of rags now, so the industry is gradually shifting to the use of raw cotton, and some 20 leading paper mills will use 7,500 bales in this manner in 1941.

INSULATION MAY CUT SURPLUS

Biggest hope for use of surplus cotton, piled up by the wartime loss of the export market, is in the making of cotton insulation. The surface of this industry has just been scratched, say the cotton engineers, who found a way to fireproof cotton fibres so they won't ignite even under the flame of a 2,000-degree blowtorch. Being light in weight and not settling under vibration, cotton insulation has been found good for both airplane cabins and refrigerator express cars. It is also being used as house insulation, and offers a potential for a post-defence-effort industry that may help the south wade out from under its terrible cotton surplus.

Experiments are going on to find other uses for the cotton surpluses, such as cotton-covered plywoods, use of cotton as a reinforcing membrane for bituminous roads and airport runways, curing sheets for concrete roads, shade for nursery seedlings and so on.

If people could just be persuaded to use these things, instead of doing them in the old-fashioned way, maybe this cotton surplus could be reduced. But again, maybe it's all a good bit like the matter of cotton stockings.

Health Slate In City Clean

Greater Victoria's health slate is virtually clean, city and municipal health and school officials reported today following a conference with Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer.

The meeting was called specifically to discuss the poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) situation as it affected school children in this region.

No fresh developments were reported, following announcement of another case in Naval Barracks last week.

While the situation here was good, the health authorities continued their vigilance, enforcing rigorously quarantine regulations covering arrivals from points under suspicion. School children who had visited Vancouver briefly, or who had gone on the excursion there last weekend, were admitted to school if they secured health clearance certificates.

The province generally was reported to be in good shape.

Following discussion arising from questions by Dr. Richard Felton, the Greater Victoria health officers decided to take no action in respect to regulating attendance at Victoria's fall fair next week. There was no cause, Dr. Felton said, to warn patrons from gathering in crowds on Citizens' Day, proclaimed by Mayor Andrew McGavin for next Wednesday.

ROME (AP)—A royal decree today prohibited purchase or sale of jewelry, thus closing that field to Italian investors who have been putting their money in precious stones in fear of inflation or in preference to buying government bonds.

Of Course You Can Afford a

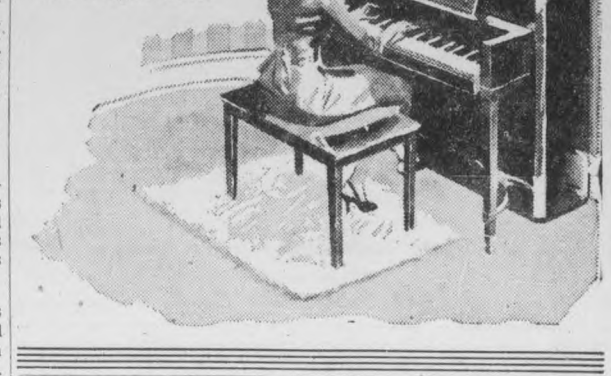

HEINTZMAN

Don't let anything mislead you. If you are going to buy a new piano, buy a Heintzman. The instrument that ALL agree is the finest instrument produced in Canada. The cost will be but little more than that of an inferior piano. Yet for years to come you will have the satisfaction of owning an instrument that ranks with the first four of the world's leading makes.

The Heintzman piano is sold exclusively at Fletcher Bros. on Vancouver Island. Terms are over two years or longer.

Speaks to Rotary On Child Welfare

Miss Lyla Mess, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society of Victoria, spoke to the Rotary Club today on "Child Welfare in the Community," telling of the part the society played in this important civic task.

The speaker stated that government legislation was the present-day foundation for all child welfare and gave the lawful circumstances under which the society could remove children from mothers and fathers who were not discharging their paternal duties satisfactorily.

Miss Mess said the society investigated all complaints of child neglect and last year reviewed 177 cases, giving care to 156 children, exclusive of overseas guests.

In the case of delinquents the Children's Aid Society attended 110 cases last year brought into the juvenile court. The society co-operated with the court, the speaker remarked, providing a complete social history of the delinquents for the benefit of the judges. This had proven to be a great help in enabling these children to be sent to foster homes instead of to the industrial school.

School Population 200 Higher in City

An increase of approximately 200 in the city's school population was estimated by H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector, today as reports from various classes reached his office. Full figures had not been turned in at noon today, but there were sufficient to indicate the growth in student numbers.

Evidence pointed to the influx of new families as the chief cause of the increase. That factor was particularly noticeable in the James Bay area. A new division will be created at Beacon Hill School, while South Park will have a larger enrolment than in recent years.

In Central Junior High there were 46 new pupils registered from points outside Victoria this year.

Soldier Sentenced

Six months hard labor at Oakalla was the sentence on Richard C. Goodfellow, a soldier, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today on charges of obtaining by false pretences cars belonging to Jones Brothers' Service Station Ltd., and David L. Moore.

Goodfellow pleaded guilty to both charges yesterday and appeared on remand today for sentence.

"You are a young man and I am going to take that into consideration," said Magistrate Hall. "You must be brought up sharply though."

He was sentenced to six months each on both charges, sentences to run concurrent.

Goodfellow gave worthless cheques to both the car owners in supposedly purchasing the machines.

Nearly an Inch Of Rain Yesterday

Rain to the extent of .91 inch dropped on Victoria yesterday. This news was given out this morning by the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Heights with the forecast for the remainder of today as "widely scattered showers."

Yesterday's rainfall represented no record, however, 3.05 inches being experienced on January 21, 1935, and two inches daily on many other occasions.

The forecast for tomorrow is partly cloudy and mild.

Vancouver was the wettest point in British Columbia yesterday with 2.60 inches of moisture. The city's record rainfall was four inches in 24 hours.

8,409 Tourist Cars Here in 8 Months

A 26 per cent increase in the number of foreign cars entering Victoria in the eight months of the year over the same period last year, was announced by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau today.

This was an all-time record in tourist travel to the city, said George I. Warren, publicity commissioner.

In the eight months customs officials examined 8,409 cars bearing foreign license plates coming here. They carried 21,534 passengers.

In the corresponding period of last year 6,671 foreign cars were examined which carried 17,517 passengers.

Cars from every state of the United States with the exception of Alabama, visited the city. Officials of the Publicity Bureau said this fact would be brought to the attention of the main chambers of commerce in Alabama.

In August this year, 1,265 cars came here from California alone. It was pointed out that the figures given did not include the numbers of tourists who visited the city coming through Nanaimo and Sidney. Figures for these ports were not available. The figures also did not include tourists who came here without cars.

An earthquake of moderate intensity was recorded on the seismograph at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here today, beginning at 2.34 a.m. and continuing until 4.55 (P.S.T.). The preliminary waves were recorded at 2.34.28 with secondary waves at 2.45.02 and maximum intensity at 3.06.30. The distance was estimated at 5,900 miles, probably in a westerly direction.

ROAD SHOW AT OAK BAY

Patsy Kelly's reputation as "a good fellow" stood the greatest test in her career during the filming of her latest role, and she came through with flying colors.

The scene, in Hal Roach's "Road Show," which opens at the Oak Bay Theatre today, called for Patsy to get the whirl of her life in an airplane. This is one of those amusement park contraptions used by the Air Corps to test the stalling powers of would-be pilots, and automatically duplicates the power dives, barrel-rolls and other hair-raising stunts of an actual warplane.

Miss Lupino leaves her true love for the sake of promised champagne-orchid-caviar living.

Aline MacMahon is a complaining, self-martyred hypochondriac. Albert plays a boardwalk "pitch" man.

And George Tobias is the Sheephead Bay merchant who's always saying that he's on the verge of bankruptcy.

Robert Taylor in Western Drama

Six-shooters roar in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Billy the Kid," technicolor action film starring Robert Taylor, which will open at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

The vigorous saga of pioneer days, filmed on western locations shows the full beauty and natural colors of the vast desert and range settings.

Taylor plays the title role, with Brian Donlevy as his best friend and nemesis and Mary Howard as the story's beautiful heroine. Billy starts as an employee of a cattle rustling band, then through his own code of ethics, sides with the ranchers and gives his life for that of the man loved by the girl he loves.

David Miller directed the picture, with a strong supporting cast that includes Ian Hunter, Gene Lockhart and Lon Chaney Jr.

Highlights include a wild stampede of 1,500 Mexican longhorn cattle, chases between bandits and law officers, escapes from jail and other tense dramatic moments enlivened with comedy.

'THE STRAWBERRY BLONDE' AT ATLAS

A battle that rocked the campus at Northwestern University was begun when the boys of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity voted the Strawberry Blonde as the type girl who would be their ideal date for the Junior Prom.

Thirty brunettes of the various sororities immediately went on picket duty outside of the fraternity house, and a "Don't Date Phi Kaps" movement was gotten under way among all the co-eds.

"The Strawberry Blonde" is now being filmed at the Atlas Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE

Take a captain R.N., handsome and a trifle girl-shy (Jack Buchanan); an admiral, chesty and crusty (Fred Emney); two lovely girls, out for fun (Greta Gynt and Kay Walsh), and allow all to sleep aboard a cruiser ordered to sea, add an admiral's wife and daughter, a chaperone, a worried commander, Chinese servant, two marines, stir vigorously in the middle of the night and there will be fun for any number of persons.

The foregoing might be authors Ian Hay and Stephen King-Hall's recipe for writing "The Middle Watch," showing at the Plaza Theatre.

'ANGELS OVER BROADWAY' SHOWN

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is starred in "Angels Over Broadway," new Ben Hecht production for Columbia now at the Cadet Theatre.

Rita Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell and John Qualen are also featured in the film. George Antheil penned the musical score and Lee Garmes did the photography. "Angels Over Broadway" tells a thrilling, heart-filled story of Manhattan.

GINGER ROGERS AS SALES GIRL

How the kind-hearted impulse of a moment brings a flood of complications in its train is the experience faced by Ginger Rogers in the highly amusing "Bachelor Mother," co-starring David Niven, now at the York Theatre.

Miss Rogers plays the role of a sales girl in a metropolitan department store, and Niven is seen as one of the store executives. During her lunch hour Ginger, passing a founding home, sees a woman place a baby on the steps and run away. As Ginger herself hurries to the doorstep to keep the child from falling, a matron open the door, sees her with the baby, and assumes it is Gingers' own child.

OUT OUR WAY

Uncle Ray

'Thundering Java' Has 18 Storms Per Month

More than 45,000 thunderstorms every day of the year! That is what weather bureau records tell us about the earth's average.

There are many places today where no drop of rain is falling, and where no slight sound of thunder can be heard. Yet we may be sure that somewhere the rain is falling, and somewhere the thunder is booming. Indeed, as you read these words, there may be 100 — or 1,000 — regions where storms are going on.

One of the modern types of rain gauges

Thunderstorms take place in the torrid zone all through the year. In the north temperate zone, we seldom hear thunder in the winter months. In the south temperate zone, the seasons are turned around. People down there almost never hear thunder in June, July or August.

The island of Java, near the southeastern end of Asia, has been called "thundering Java," and for a good reason. This thickly-settled Dutch island is visited by thunderstorms more than half of the days and nights of the year. The average number of Java storms is about 18 per month.

Before this I have spoken of the meaning of "one inch of rainfall." In a certain region, enough rain falls to cover the ground to a depth of one inch—if the water did not run away, or sink into the soil.

Because the water usually does sink, or run away, weather bureau use "rain gauges." A rain gauge catches the water, and measures the amount. A quarter of an inch of rain in one day is a great deal, and one inch means a real downpour.

If one inch of rain fell on a square mile of land, it would mean more than 14,000,000 gallons of water on that land. There are places in India which sometimes have several inches of rain in one day. I am thinking chiefly of Assam and Bengal, which are parts of India.

Cherra Junji, in Assam, had 366 inches of rain in the month of July, back in the year 1861. The average was just over 12 inches per day. That was a "record," but how wet the people around there must have felt!

A one-day record was made at Purnea, northern India, on July 8, 1905. Thirty-five inches of rain fell that day! There was more rain in Purnea in 24 hours than the city of London gets in an average year.

Yet London is not an extremely dry place. It has thick fogs, and good rains many days of the year.

If we wish to find a very dry part of the world, the place to go is to a desert. The Sahara in northern Africa has rain once in a while, but parts of it do not enjoy an average of one inch a year.

Benefic aspects are noted for today. Persons may turn their attention to solving problems which have troubled them for some time. Misunderstandings over money or debts may be smoothed out. The seers advise persons not to act on impulse, but to deliberate each new move. Acquaintances made today should lead to lasting friendships.

Astrologers declare that total war will continue for some time yet although Hitler may suffer an important defeat in the near future.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good luck. Children born on this day may be industrious and energetic.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am the youngest girl of a family of eight, none of whom are married. It is my job to do all the cooking, washing and housework, and I am so tired of it that if I had the nerve I would commit suicide. My sisters have good jobs and nice clothes and have good times, while I stay at home with nothing, for I get no money for my work. They just give me my board and clothes. I am crazy to go out and work, but they won't let me even try to get a job. They say I am too dumb and that my place is at home. What do you think I should do?

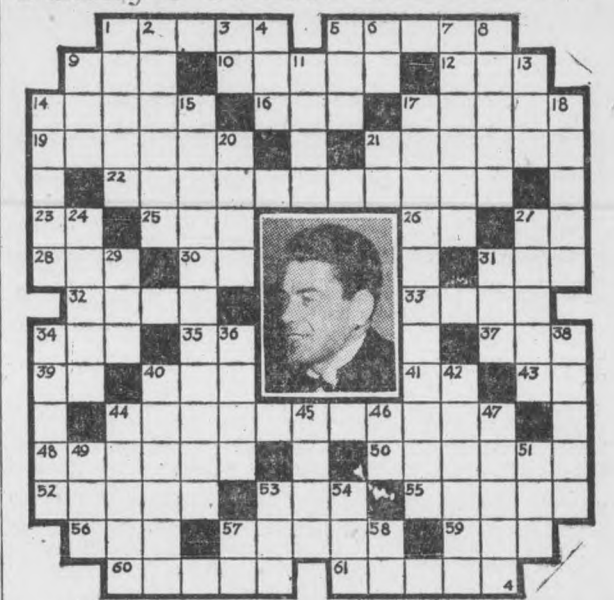

SALLY.

Answer: Why, I'd show 'em, Sally. I would bang the door behind me and get a job that had a pay envelope attached to it so I could have pretty clothes and good times like my sisters. I wouldn't be a Cinderella and rake the kitchen ashes for them. There is no reason why you should be sacrificed for them.

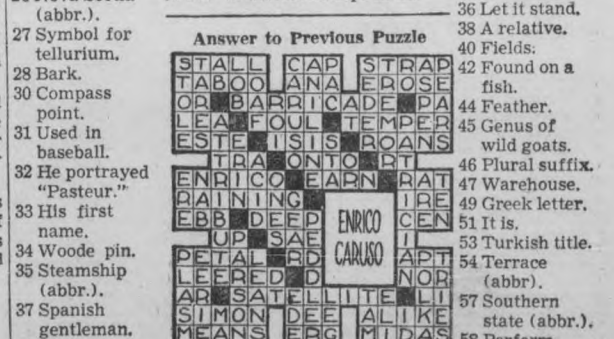

Don't believe them when they say you are too dumb to get a job. That isn't true. You already have one profession—that of houseworker—at your fingers' end, and there is always a demand for good cooks and maids, and at least if you work in some one else's house instead of your family's you would get paid for doing so.

DOROTHY DIX.

POLITICS

CARSON CHOSEN

Robert Henry Carson, Liberal member of the last British Columbia Legislature for Kamloops, was named at a Liberal nominating convention in Kamloops last night to again contest the riding in the forthcoming provincial general election.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, provincial Minister of Agriculture, in addressing the convention said he was "definitely opposed to a nonpolitical highway commission."

"The public utilities commission is all the commission I want while I am in the government," Mr. MacDonald said.

"Commissioners have a tendency to become dictators rather than the people's servants."

FARMER'S RIGHTS

In speaking of controlled marketing of primary products, the agriculture minister said that the farmer "is as much entitled to the right of collective bargaining as the industrial worker."

He said British Columbia's marketing legislation has "enlarged the producers' return and has changed the vegetable production picture of the lower mainland from 65 to 70 per cent in the hands of Orientals to the same percentage in the hands of white men."

He said the Oriental farm problem is "economic, not national," and he could see no advantage to British Columbia in an increased Oriental population.

"If Japan has to expand, God forbid it expand on British soil," he said.

The convention went on record as favoring a return to standard time in the Kamloops area.

Need Help of Others

Paish Sees Good Chance For Soviet to Beat Nazis

Sir George Paish declared here last night that in view of the huge and well-trained Red Army, their equal, if not superior, air force, superior navy, and good morale of the Russian people, there are good grounds for hoping that Russia will be able to hold, and eventually defeat, the Germans with the assistance of Britain and the United States.

But the 74-year-old British economist, speaking to a meeting in the Empress Hotel, sponsored by the newly-formed British-Russian Aid Committee, declared the task would not be easy, and needed the utmost effort of every individual.

"This is not just a war between nations," he said. "Hitler's cry is 'I will be master of the world.' The German slogan is: 'Germany belongs to us; tomorrow the world is ours.'"

TO AVERT CATASTROPHE

"Only by the defeat of Hitler is it possible to avert the greatest catastrophe that ever faced the human race. Hitler's new order is not a new order. It is an old and very bad one, the order of 1,000 years ago, from which the people of all nations have been trying to emancipate themselves for centuries. It is the order of rule by force, the order of gangsters."

Sir George said the devilish action and treachery of Hitler's attack on Russia had known no parallel in world history. It was no excuse that Russia was Communist, for Nazism meant rule by the state at the expense of the many for the benefit of the few, while Communism, in comparison, meant rule of the state for the benefit of the many at the expense of the few.

He declared Russian foreign policy had been under German domination and control from 1917 to 1933.

USED PROPAGANDA

Every effort Russia had made towards a peaceful Europe was frustrated by Germany. It could not be doubted now the Zinoviev letter was written at German dictation. They had even helped organize the Russian army, because they were forbidden to organize their own, and he had the word of the German ambassador that if France had attacked during reoccupation of the Ruhr the Germans would have brought 1,000,000 Russians to the front to hold the line while the German army was organized. Germany had even promoted Bolshevik propaganda in democratic countries to prevent peaceful relations between Russia and other nations.

Russia had never wanted war, Sir George said, but Britain and France and Poland had blundered when they did not recognize Russia's foresight in seeking control of the Baltic states as a bulwark. No one could say this would have averted world war, but only a combination of states would have prevented Hitler starting the struggle. He had been forced into war by the bankruptcy of his own nation, which faced economic collapse.

ALL FOR DEFENCE

Steps Russia had taken, in Finland, in Poland, in the Baltic States and in Bessarabia were not of aggression, in fact, but to improve her own defensive position against Germany. The advantage of these moves was now obvious to everyone. They had permitted a delaying action on the German armies until the main Red army could be mobilized to deal with them.

The reason for the purge of Red army generals several years ago was now apparent. It was to clear the army of Nazi sympathizers who would have turned traitor when the time came. Sir George analyzed the improvement of the R.A.F.'s striking force since 1939, the weight of U.S. arms now bearing on the war, and the opening up of Iran as a supply route, among the hopeful signs for victory.

Declaring that the first war cost Russia 20,000,000 lives directly and indirectly afterwards through revolution and starvation, Sir George expressed sympathy for their present tribulation, but added:

"Out of her sufferings Russia will arise a very great nation again and will enjoy the friendship of the entire world which she is now helping to save from slavery and unparalleled disaster."

CHANGED SPIRIT

Rhys Williams, writer and lecturer who spent eight years in Russia after the revolution and returned two and a half years ago, described life in a typical Russian village. He emphasized the new spirit among the peasants and the younger generation, stressing particularly the change in the men of the Red Army. Unlike the soldiers of the Czar, the Russians of today knew why they were fighting. Through their knowledge of mechanized farm equipment, they were capable of handling the machines of modern war. Years before this war began they had recognized Germany as the enemy they would have to fight.

Dr. D. M. Baillie was chairman and called for support for the objectives of the committee, which include establishment of full diplomatic, consular and trade relations between Canada and the Soviet Union, full support for Churchill's pledge of aid to the Soviet, union of all anti-Fascists to fight Hitler, with a wider understanding between Canadian and Soviet people, and the raising of funds to supply medical and other needs to Russia.

DON'T FORGET FRESH AIR

I believe almost everyone in our city has expressed many thanks for the wonderful summer weather we've enjoyed since last April. The warm sunshine has given us energy and strength for life's duties.

The patients in our hospitals have had their windows wide open for the refreshing pure air coming in day and night and many have returned to their homes well and strong. But some folk forget that our homes need continual fresh air, even though it may be somewhat cooler. How good to know that tuberculosis and pneumonia are often cured by plenty of fresh air with the nurse's care. When one patient complained of the open window, the nurse said: "It must be open to keep you fit." So may every one remember her words and ward off illness by opening windows all through our homes. Our children, too, will benefit by our well-ventilated homes.

YOUNG MEN, DUTY AND THE FUTURE

After two years of war which to date we have survived thanks mainly to "the few to whom so many owe so much," it is surprising to read your editorial of September 2, which I interpret as advising young men to prepare for and look after their own personal interests after the war, rather than help defeat the enemy now by joining the forces on a voluntary basis.

True, these young men should not be required to volunteer. Each and all of us should by now be instructed by our government what our activities must be so as to best help in the joint war effort. The government which you support has not done this yet, but please do not attempt to discourage those who may still be altruistic enough to offer their lives for democracy, before thinking of their possible future after the war. If this war is lost we shall have no future.

NUMERICS

"We have something to wonder at in the Divine (63) message (69)—132 of the Bible (30) numerics (102)—132 in the chosen (64) language (68)—132 where A-1, B-2, C-3, Z-26, the gift of God—26."

Here is corroboration that the Authorized Version is the true inspired rendering in English of the ancient manuscripts.

Modern (69) appointed (100) word (60)—229. Authorized (127) version (102)—229.

The (33) true (64) Bible (30)—127. The (33) Israel (64) Bible (30)—127. Authorized—127.

Holy (60) word (60) Gematria (74)—194. Right (62) Bible (30) numerics (102)—194. Teaching (86) of (21) truth (87)—194.

We do not realize the wonders of creation but if we accept what we have as created by God for man we will take the Israel teachings of the Bible as the key to New Truth.

Israel—64 is chosen—64 and it is true—64 that the select—64 leaders—64 spring from the Isles—64 of Britain.

C.C.F. IN SAANICH

Mr. Neilson, "whether intentionally or unintentionally," is misleading the people of Saanich into believing that the C.C.F. will, if elected, give us security and plenty by means of public ownership of natural resources and monopolistic industry.

Does Mr. Neilson mean the same kind of public or state ownership that the people of Germany were misled into supporting?

Throughout history we have passed through several different systems. Each system lasted as long as it had a useful function to perform. When they had outlived their usefulness they were replaced by the next.

No party, C.C.F., Liberal, Social Credit, Communist, can bring about a change of the system. Time and conditions alone are the determining factors. As long as capitalism has a useful function to perform it will remain.

TAX FEARS IN SAANICH

I have lately bought property in the municipality of Saanich. I chose to live in Saanich because, along with its other advantages, the taxes were low.

I now find that the Saanich council proposes to abandon the present water system which gives satisfaction to all the inhabitants with the exception of a few isolated cases. I think these isolated cases should be treated separately and not the whole population burdened with the cost of an entirely new system.

We may be compelled at any time in the near future, owing to the recent rapid increase of the population, to install an efficient sewerage system. Such a scheme might cost $700,000 or more.

The cost of this, added to the proposed water scheme at $350,000, plus, might ultimately cause Saanich to become bankrupt.

It seems to me that estimates prepared without previous experience in water schemes are more or less speculative, and the actual cost may be far greater than estimated.

Hence the greater need for caution on the part of the rate-payers.

A WORK OF ART

The pamphlet "Maelstrom" seems to me to deserve more than a paper cover and a limited stage. Its diagnosis of world-wide is masterly, and though terse, exhaustive. The two opening chapters have the impetuous rush of eloquence, and carry the reader away with the roar of Niagara sounding in his ears. Follows the crucial third chapter, the hoisting of the flag of Freedom, the sweeping, almost savage, condemnation of repression in all its myriad forms. The height of great drama is touched when fortune's wheel comes round "full circle," and freedom and tyranny stand face to face. Hitler is treated calmly, if scathingly, and is seen as no more than a "fly on the wheel."

1940 and 1941 are briefly alluded to, the former showing rifts in the clouds on the tempestuous world-horizon, the latter confidently directing our eyes to the standard-bearer, Britain, and the arsenal America. The final section is a paean, a magnificent climax, suggested to the writer by Beethoven's Leonora.

The verdict of one unimportant reader is that "Maelstrom," for all its brevity, is a consummate work of art and rises triumphantly to this greatest of all occasions in history, the crisis of the human race.
